much to have the job. My boss at the Chamber was away at the time and I dreaded to approach him about it but an older lady who worked there understood my dilemma and interceeded, enabling me to start working at Household Finance right away. It was the beginning of a job that was very pleasant.

WORKING FOR HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

The Household Finance Company was located at Broadway and Main in what was then the Riley Bank Building. Not long after beginning there, Household bought out the Provident Loan Company in East Chicago on Forsythe Avenue. There was a young lady about my age named Katherine Huber who worked for Provident and she was transferred over to Household when they bought it. This is how we happened to meet and it was the beginning of our friendship which has grown and lasted for over 50 years now.

Katherine stood up for us when Harold James and I were married. A short while later she went out to California to work for Household there while living with some of her relatives. She was gone for about a year and came back and we worked together again. Not long after that I was expecting Carole, so I quit working; Katherine left Household and married Louis Walter.

MOVING TO GRIFFITH

I met Harold James in high school and he had been my only boyfriend. We started out our marriage on Euclid Avenue in the Harbor and he worked for Inland Steel.

My brother, Ray had married, was working at Pullman Standard and had moved out to Griffith and before long Harold and I started thinking about moving out that way, too. We bought a lot at 317 N. Rensselaer Street. My dad was able to get steel beams for the house from Inland and contruction was begun by a local builder named Mr. Estrup. It was a nice one-story house, extremely well built. Our good neighbors were the Joyces and the Redars. (When we moved to Griffith the population was 2900).

It was wonderful living in Griffith! The air was so gloriously clean and fresh after living in the Harbor most of my life where the mills poured out soot and smoke, besides the heavy fumes from the oil refineries, the dust from the cement plant and the strong odors from Cudahay Meat Packing. Griffith not only had clean air, but it had beautiful trees. I've always been glad that we moved to Griffith.

Robin was born after we came to Griffith and I kept busy with my two little girls and being a homemaker, Girl Scout leader (for 5 years), and was involved in church work and church secretary (for 7 years).

NOTES ABOUT JOE & DORIS WEBER

As my girls got a little older, we became acquainted with Doris and Joe (Josephus) Weber who lived across the street from us. Doris taught at Griffith High School and Joe was working at the City Service Oil Refinery. Joe and Doris decided to go into business for themselves and

Dear Friends,

During coffee breaks at The Griffith Shopper, the conversation often turned to the early days of our work and to some of the humorous and nostalgic things that happened; or to the Town of Griffith as it was during the 1950s, 60s and 70s.

Shortly after the business was sold in 1985, Lois Lohman mentioned to me that it might be a nice idea to jot down a few of our memories and make up an informal history of The Griffith Shopper. It would be a way to preserve some of our past memories and to share them in print with our dear friends and coworkers who were such an important part of the business.

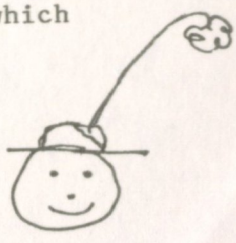
And so letters were written, phone calls were made, old photos were sorted out and shared, questions were asked and notes were taken. Finally typing was begun and pages accumulated until at last we were ready to have it printed and share our little book with you.

With deepest gratitude and appreciation to Lois Lohman, who first suggested the idea of writing this history and did much of the research and compilation of past events and memoirs. And to Joe and Doris Weber of Boerne, Texas who supplied early records and photographs.

Please accept our apologies for any omissions or errors which may have crept in unawares.

Sincerely,

Leona



Griffith Shopper changes owners

GRIFFITH — After 31 years of ownership by Leona James, the Griffith Shopper has changed hands.

James announced that as of Jan. 1, the new owner and publisher is Joel Remaley, owner and publisher of the Merrillville Herald, Hobart Gazette, Portage Journal and Lake Station Herald.

The Griffith Shopper, distributed by mail and at no charge to readers, is published weekly and is Remley's first venture into West Lake County.

Also, because Remley's other publications are "newspapers," the new acquisition is his first "shopper."

Susan Fifield, the Griffith Shopper's new general manager, said the shopper format has served the community well and no changes are planned.

James acquired the Griffith Shopper in 1954. She said prior to that she worked for the publication's original owners when it was mass produced on a mimeograph machine, not a printing press.

"I used to cut stencils at home, beginning in 1946," she recalled.

THE HISTORY OF THE GRIFFITH SHOPPER WITH A SHORT BIOGRAPHY AND THE EVENTS LEADING UP TO THE OWNERSHIP OF THE PAPER

by Leona L. James

MY BACKGROUND:

My parents were Leah Juliette Bougié (a French name, pronounced Boō-szhay) and my father was Arthur Charles (Meeker) Brown who was of English descent. After their marriage they lived in Chicago. Their first child was a daughter, Bernita; next was a son, Raymond and then I, Leona Leah Brown was born.

About three years before my birth and when my parents had only my sister and brother, my father became very ill with a ruptured appendix. He was taken to the hospital for surgery where it was found that peritonitis had set in. He was gravely ill and this was long before the days of antibiotics and wonder drugs which are so helpful now. He was hospitalized for three months and there was no medical insurance or workman's compensation in those days so it was a very difficult time for my parents. And then while Dad was in the hospital, my sister Bernita came down with diphtheria and scarlet fever at the same time and died suddenly. Mom went to Bernita's funeral and on the way home she went to the doctor herself where it was discovered that she, too had diphtheria and became very ill. All of this happened before I was born and while my parents were living in Chicago.

MOVING TO THE HARBOR

When I was ten months old, our family moved from Chicago to Indiana Harbor where my father was employed at Inland Steel. We lived in several places in the Harbor but 4017 Butternut Street in the Sunnyside section was home to us for most of those years. I attended Washington Grade School where I had a perfect attendance record after about the age of 11. Two of my girlfriends were Virginia Humes and Lillian Wellburn. Several summers were spent at a farm in Hobart with the Forman family resulting in happy memories of busy times there and learning about farm life.

The tall girl on the left is my friend, Anna Wieler. I am on the right. Photo taken in Indiana Harbor where my family was living then.

OUR PARROT, DUKE

When I was a little older, my parents got a parrot for one of Mom's birthdays. He came from Vaughn's Feed and Pet Shop that was located somewhere in the vicinity of Madison or Monroe Street in Chicago. We brought him home on the El train and he whistled all the way! He was a gorgeous bird with a yellow crest and head, green body and multicolor (blue, yellow, red) under his wings.

Although Duke was a birthday gift for Mom, it was my Dad that Duke loved best of all, and since he could talk, he liked to sit on Dad's shoulder or on the back of his chair and say, "Oh, Art; Oh, Art." Dad always saved a little bit of his lunch, bringing it home in his lunch pail for Duke. Duke had quite a vocabulary and could say Peek-a-boo; Hello; Queen (our dog's name); Ray (my brother); but my name, Leona was difficult for him to pronounce and he called me "Oh-na". (Years later, after my girls were born, he learned to say Rob and Carole). Mom had great patience with him, teaching him many words and also how to wolf-whistle, which would sometimes be embarrassing if Duke would be out on the porch in his cage when a young lady happened to walk by.

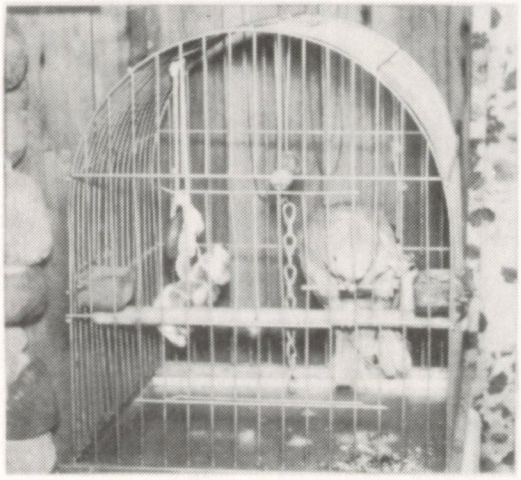
Duke would sometimes be destructive. He once tore up the decorative ball-fringe on our nice kitchen curtains! He had to have a strong stainless steel cage with a lock on the door. His dishes had to be wired into the cage with the wire far enough out of his reach or he would get it untied. He also had a dislike for anything that was bright red in color and would get upset.

Duke loved little children. He liked to ride on the broom handle if you were sweeping the floor. His usual diet was sunflower seeds, some fruits and peanuts. Occasionally he would share some of our table food--his favorites being mashed potatoes or macaroni and noodles. He also liked to have toast and coffee (with cream and sugar) with us for breakfast and he would dunk his toast! Mom had taught him to say "That's good eatin'" and he would say that often when eating with us.

Parrots are noted for their longevity. Duke first lived with Mom and Dad; then after Dad passed on he lived with Mom in her apartment and after Mom passed on he lived with the girls and me. Duke was a happy member of our households for a grand total of 42 years.

COLLEGE AND CAREER

I attended Washington High School and then after graduation was enrolled in East Chicago Business College. Toward the end of my training, the college got me a job at the East Chicago Chamber of Commerce and I stayed on there after graduating. My salary was $15 a week from which I paid for the bus ride each day, bought my lunch and paid room and board at home.



Duke in his cage at my home in Griffith.

My job at the Chamber was not a dream job by any means. It required typing long sheets without error or erasure and my employer was a very demanding person who had an explosive temper causing me much worry and loss of weight.

After working at the Chamber for about two years, a man from the Household Finance Company came in who was interested in finding a secretary. He asked if any of my friends worked as hard as I did because that's what he was looking for, he said. I told him that I would like very bought the Griffith Shopper, a small mimeographed advertising paper, printed weekly on 8½ x 11 sheets and hand delivered. Doris quit her teaching to take care of her new family and to put together the Shopper since she could do this work at home.

Joe Weber was a gifted artist and portrait painter who gave private art lessons and he soon joined Doris in the Shopper business and devoted more time to his art. He excelled in many art forms and he also did painting and refurbishing for churches, doing work on statues, etc. One of his outstanding projects was re-doing the interior of St. Michael's Church in Schererville. Joe had the walls of his children's rooms all painted with murals and was always doing interesting things with various forms of art.

Joe and Doris had three young children at that time. Joe Jr., the oldest was always called "Sef" and he is now (1987) a corporate pilot in Texas. Regina, the only girl now lives in central Indiana; and Bobby lives in California. (After leaving Griffith, and when living in Albuquerque, New Mexico the family welcomed another son, Danny who also lives in California now). When the Webers left Griffith, Joe started working for the government and Doris returned to her teaching career. They lived in California for 4 years and then were sent to Pennsylvania for a 9-month term; then on to Albuquerque for 12 years. Joe retired in Albuquerque and they with the two younger sons moved back to California where Doris continued to teach for 15 years. They are now both retired and moved to the quiet Hill Country of Texas near their oldest son, Joe, Jr., known to us all as "Sef".

THE BEGINNING OF THE GRIFFITH SHOPPER

The Shopper had originally been started by a Mr. Schultz who lived on Broad Street in Griffith. The paper was delivered by a young school boy to most Griffith homes. It was a one-sheet weekly and had been in existence for about six months when Joe and Doris Weber bought it from Mr. Schultz in March of 1947.

At first the Webers published the paper on their little side porch. One day Doris asked me if I would be interested in helping them out by typing and cutting stencils for the paper. This could be done at home, working on it at night after the girls were in bed. (I always wanted to be home when the girls were there). I began helping them at this time. The paper began to grow and it wasn't long until they had to move it down in their basement to have more space for it.

In June of 1947 a severe rain storm flooded their basement and made a mess of everything so that they had to find a place to move into quickly. A vacancy was found at 142 S. Broad Street, which had formerly been the location of a confectionary store known as The Peanut Factory and from then on 142 S. Broad was "The Home of The Griffith Shopper".

I continued to do stencils at home during the evenings but then in August of 1948 the Webers sold the business to Mr. Arthur Weeks and decided to go to the Netherlands. Joe's parents lived there and they wanted to make an extended visit to see them. This ended my work when they left and I did not work for Mr. Weeks. The Webers returned from their trip abroad in November of 1948 and they were in Danville, Indiana after that. The following winter (February, 1949) Mr. Weeks contacted the Webers saying that he had changed from mimeograph to offset a month previously and that he just wasn't making it and was going to close the doors. In case the Webers were interested, he would sell it back to them for the original price. Webers accepted and immediately returned to Griffith.

Again, I helped them and would work on Mondays only, and only during the hours when Carole and Robin were in school. Joe bought a large camera for plate-making but it proved to be too expensive and so they had them made in South Bend; but this was not only expensive but inconvenient as well. It was finally decided to have the plates and printing done by Eldon Beer, a printer from Calumet City, Illinois. They continued to do the addressing by the Addressograph mailing list that they had acquired.

FIRST CONTACT WITH JOE SMITH

Doris, having formerly taught at Griffith High School, one day was substitute teaching. It so happened that Joe Smith was in her study hall class and he was drawing cartoons and "doodling"--not studying. Doris could see that he had a gift for drawing and she asked him if he would like to use his art talents and help out at The Shopper in the layout department.

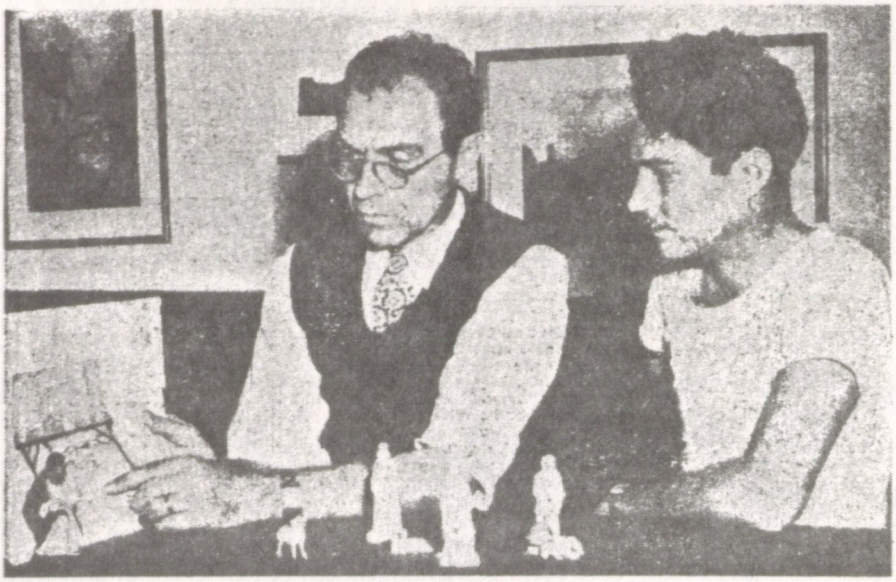
It was at this time that Joe Smith started to work for them part-time as he finished high school and he and Joe Weber became great friends through their common interest in art. Occasionally Joe would help Joe Weber with an art project that he was involved with.

Joe and Doris Weber, February 1987 at their home in Boerne, Texas.

A memorable project was the making of a life-sized Nativity scene that was eventually proudly displayed beside the Griffith Town Hall. Most of the work was done right in the front room of the Shopper at 142 S. Broad Street. The figures were constructed of paper mache and we walked ankle-deep in newspaper scraps for several days while the forms were being molded.

The following three pages were copied from a supplement to The Hammond Times of Sunday, December 23, 1951 which describes the project in detail and the work that went into it.

Artists Make Nativity Scene



AN ART CLASS of Griffith High school made the models copied by the Griffith Art club members. Joseph Weber (left), club president, and Roy Wilson, high school art teacher and club member, discuss the shelter drawing and models.

Taken from the Sunday Supplement to the Hammond Times, December 23, 1951.

The Griffith Art club, organized this year, designed, made and painted the nativity scene now on display beside the Griffith town hall.

Making the figures out of old newspapers, rope and cardboard was the suggestion of Joseph Weber, club president, a member of the Northern Indiana Artists Assn. and a graduate of the Royal Academy of Art in Brussels, Belgium.

On the cover, two club members, Mrs. Ralph Beiriger and Roy Wilson, art instructor at Griffith High school, are forming the hands and head of a kneeling figure.

FIRST STEP in making the nativity figures is putting together the framework with rope, wire, paper, wood and cardboard. Starting what will be an angel are (from left) Mrs. Leonard Aldrin, Mrs. George D. LaNoue and Wilson.

AFTER THREE COATS of outside white paint are applied, members finished the figures by brushing on natural colors, using oil paints. Mrs. Martin Sharik and Weber are holding the finished model of the Christ Child, with a halo at its head. At the left of Mrs. Shank is another model waiting to be painted.

OLD NEWSPAPERS, The Hammond Times, others in the Middle West, some from Holland and a Jewish paper, were dipped in wallpaper paste and slapped on the frameworks to make the outlines of the figures. Here (left to right) Weber, Mrs. Gertrude Jacobs, Mrs. Aldrin and Mrs. LaNoue prepare a shepherd who will hold a lamb.

AT FIRST club members tried a sawdust mixture for a base for the hands and face. Then they found that a combination of asbestos material and paste worked better in shaping the flesh features. J. F. Murray (left) and Weber begin applying the combination to the head of a cow.

THIS IS the completed nativity display now exhibited in Griffith. The Art club, having approximately 30 members, worked evenings in a small backroom of a Griffith store to finish the project. Admiring the scene are Mary Jane Zyp, 2½; Alice Zyp, 4, and Nancy Zyp, 5, all of 222 N. Woodlawn, Griffith.

GRIFFITH, CLASS "A" POST OFFICE

Joe and Doris had always mailed The Shopper and by March of 1949 the circulation had grown to 2,500. Because of our weekly mailing, Griffith's growth and out of town requests, our increased circulation helped considerably in having our post office classified as a "Class A" Post Office.

THE WEBERS LEAVE GRIFFITH

In April 1950 Joe Weber became very ill with hemorrhaging ulcers and in July 1950 it was necessary to have serious surgery. The recuperation time was long and by January of 1951 the Webers decided they would sell the business and move to the milder climate of California. They talked to Harold and me about it and it was finally decided that we would take it, forming a partnership with our friends, Garnet and Lillian Ward.

NEW OWNERS OF THE GRIFFITH SHOPPER

It was at this time that Joe and Doris and family moved to California and Harold and I, Garnet and Lillian took over as the new owners of The Griffith Shopper. It was decided that Garnet and Harold would do the sales part of the business; they would contact the customers and bring in the ads. Lillian and I would do the ad building, office work and bookkeeping. Lillian wasn't too enthused about it but she agreed to work for one year, although not every day because they had a family of two sons. In a few years I was able to buy their share of the business.

It wasn't long before we hired Berniece Warner to help us and Joe Smith continued to come in and work on the grocery ads in the mornings; afternoons and evenings he worked as a bartender at the American Legion Post 66.

THE "CALL SHEET"

Harold and Garnet were in charge of contacting the customers, but before long we found that some were being missed which meant a loss of revenue for the business. So a call sheet was made up--an alphabetical list of both regular advertisers and prospective ones. Each week a friendly reminder call was made to them requesting their copy by a designated time if they wanted their ad to appear in our next issue. They were never pressured and the calls were always brief. Those whom I was unable to contact that day were noted on the call sheet and a follow-up call was made the next day. Thursdays and Fridays were my regular calling days. The call sheet was updated occasionally and new businesses and prospective advertisers were added. (By the time the business was sold in December, 1985 I was making approximately 150 calls per week). The call sheet method proved to be an effective way of reaching all our advertisers and keeping a personal friendly contact with them as well.

MACHINES AND EQUIPMENT

As previously mentioned, The Shopper was originally made up by typing stencils and then using a stylus pen and alphabet letters drawn in from a template. After the Webers bought the paper back from Mr. Weeks the mimeograph method was no longer used and the offset process was used instead. This gave the paper a professional look and easier readability.

Our earliest method for making headlines was to use Fototype letters selected from pre-printed alphabets, arranging them on a ruled stick to keep them even, and covering the completed headline with Scotch® tape to keep it in place before positioning it. It was a slow way of making headlines in bold type, but we thought it was a giant step ahead in our progress. (This method of setting Fototype lettering is shown here at the right).

Setting Fototype (Courtesy Fototype, Inc.)

It wasn't long before we decided to purchase a VariTyper® which we got in Chicago and went there for a few lessons to learn how to use it. It had 16 different typefaces that we could use with it, but it was a very time-consuming job because everything had to be typed twice. You typed the line as you wanted it and then tabbed over to the right where you retyped it in order to get the justification. A few years later we bought an IBM typewriter (with a small size type) which did not justify the right hand margin, but was a much speedier way of getting the news and classifieds typed up.

HEADLINERS

Our first headliner was another step forward. It was a wooden box affair and the letters had to be punched out individually. It had an assortment of 12 different fonts that cost $25 each. The words (or numbers) came out on a long strip and the machine had a manual cut-off lever to slice off the tape. A darkroom was required for developing and we had to improvise one. Joe went down to Griffith Furniture and got a large cardboard refrigerator box which we set up with a small table and three soup bowls: one for developer, one for fixer and a third for the water rinse. The tape was submersed in each of the three liquids and then dried on a towel before being cut and pasted on an ad or used for a news headline.

After this original headliner we had two other models similar to the one shown above. Even though each character had to be punched out individually, these machines were self-contained, having their own tanks and did not require a darkroom for developing. They were however, subject to clogs and jams which required us to turn off the lights and try to fish out our tape without exposing it.

We had fonts like the one shown above (left) which were used to produce the typestyles that we needed. Most of ours were plain bold face type, ideal for grocery items and bold prices--but we also had a few script and fancier fonts to give our smaller ads a professional appearance.

We had regular maintenance on our headliners and then we could call for service in the event of a break-down. A young man from Hobart, Joel Remaley often came on service calls. (We didn't realize then that 30 or more years later Joel would be the owner of the Herald Newspapers and that he would be the one to buy The Shopper when the time came to sell). There was also a service man from Chicago, Mr. Frank Ashmont who repaired the headliner for us in the 1970s.

When out picking up an ad from MacFarland Lumber, Joe returned with this mural, shown here behind me. We had no windows in the back room and he said we needed a little outdoor atmosphere. This was about 1954 or 1955. The mural remained on the wall until the 1980s.

MOVING TO CLINE AVENUE

On October 15, 1954 I was divorced from Harold James. All I really wanted was my girls and my freedom, but his attorney said I must have something, so I took our share of the business, The Griffith Shopper, which was valued monetarily much less than our home on Rensselaer Street. I never wanted Harold to say that I "took everything".

At that time Harold said the girls and I could continue to live in our house until Carole and Robin were out of school, provided I continued to make the house payments. But when Spring came, Harold said I must be out by the first of April which only gave me about three weeks to find another home.

I looked frantically at many houses, finally finding one I thought we could manage and went to see Helen Lund at Griffith Federal Savings & Loan. She said, "Leona, you don't want that house. It's too old and needs many repairs. I have a friend, George Bond who is building good new homes in Griffith. I'll arrange to have you meet him."

Mr. Bond was willing to let me make down payments as rent and when the amount reached the accepted mortgage figure, I got a home loan at Griffith Federal Savings & Loan and from then on things looked much brighter at 716 North Cline Avenue--thanks to the Good Lord, Helen Lund and George Bond!

NOTES ABOUT THE BUILDING AT 142 SOUTH BROAD STREET

The Shopper occupied various amounts of space in the building of which 142 is a part. Joe and Doris Weber lived in the back part while having the business in the front for a few months. Over the years we had many different businesses for neighbors in the north portion of the building. A beauty shop was there for awhile. A wood working shop owned by a Mr. Williams was located in the rear part of where Patti's School of Dance is now. A milk store and a snack shop also occupied the building for a time.

The original building ended at 142 and there was no store on the south side when The Shopper first moved in. We had two doors that opened out on the south side and we put in a small garden there between our building and the railroad tracks. We planted some flowers and Joe went down to Ben Franklin Dime Store and bought two silver maple trees for $2.98 and planted them there. They grew very well. It wasn't long before the owners of the building (Christenson's) decided to build another space for occupancy on that side so our garden had to go. I couldn't bear to have the trees that we had nutured so tenderly cut down so Joe dug them up and planted them in our yard at 716 N. Cline Avenue. They grew into beautiful large trees and we enjoyed them so much. Some years later when I finally moved from Cline one of my sad thoughts was having to leave behind the trees that had so many good memories for us.

MADAM GONZALES

The building was heated by two oil stoves which made the walls quite grimmy and sooty. We gave them a good cleaning using the dry kind of wallpaper cleaner that you form into a large ball and wipe the wall clean. When we finished we had quite a collection of the used cleaner and Joe molded it all together into the form of a lady whom we named "Madam Gonzales".

Berniece Warner sitting by our little garden. Note the two silver maple trees and the two doors that opened on the south side of the building before the addition was put on and another store added there.

"Madam Gonzales", our wallpaper cleaner lady all dressed up and being admired by Leona.

We made clothes for her, put a scarf on her head, and took pictures of her. This was a happy time of diversion for us after many long hours of hard work to get the paper finished and off to press.

KITTENS AND CATS

One day we found an injured tiger kitten lying in our garden on the south side of the building. It was in very bad shape and we were sure that it could not possibly live, but we put it in a box and brought it inside. The poor kitten was covered with dried blood and dirt and the only thing we could do was to clean it up with a mixture of Bactine (a disinfectant) and water. Within a few days the kitten had improved rapidly and it appeared that it was going to live so I put a splint on its broken tail. (Unfortunately the tail never did straighten properly and was always crooked).

We named her Jezebel and with all the good care and pampering that she received, she turned out to be a beautiful cat. Sometime later we learned that she was actually a male cat, but we kept the name of Jezebel anyway!

Joe had always had an avowed hatred for cats, but it wasn't long before Jezebel had won him over.

Jezebel liked to lay on my desk and sleep while I worked on ads; he also enjoyed sitting in the sunshine in the front window and watch as the children would walk by on the way to and from school in the mornings and afternoons. We had Jezebel for a year or so and then one day he disappeared. We feel that someone probably picked him up when he was outdoors.

MERGATROY & CHESNEY

Joe and I both missed Jezebel and not long after that someone on Ridge Road ran an ad in The Shopper for "free kittens" so I went there and got two sister cats. We named them Mergatroy (she was a beautiful pure white cat) and Chesney (a coal black cat). It wasn't long before both Mergatroy and Chesney presented us with a family--a total of twelve kittens between the two of them! Joe was in charge of keeping fresh sand in their box (this was before the days of kitty litter) but the situation got out of hand and we knew something would have to be done.

So one day I gathered up Mergatroy and her kittens and put them in one box; and Chesney and her kittens and put them in another box with one box in the front seat of the car and the other in the back. I drove to the Hammond Humane Society and gave the people there $10 with the instructions "Please don't separate them" and I tearfully left as quickly as possible. I'm sure the folks in charge there must have smiled and shook their heads over the lady who came in with all those cats and kittens!

That was our final experience with cats at The Griffith Shopper.

THE ANT FARM

For awhile we had an Ant Farm and had it in the front window. It is very interesting to watch the activity and work habits of these busy little creatures.

In those days Joe cleaned the office and one day he must have used a particularly strong solution of ammonia to get things spic and span. Apparently the fumes from the ammonia were so strong that the ants were unable to survive.

After these two episodes, we gave up all thoughts of having any other pets.

COFFEE BREAKS

One of the things that kept us going when having to work so many long hours was our coffee breaks. Daily at 10 A.M. and again at 3 P.M. we would set the work aside while we took at 10-minute break away from our desks to drink a steaming cup of fresh coffee and engage in some light conversation.

A two-burner electric hot plate and a six-cup aluminum coffee pot was brought down to the office. We felt that Hills Bros. was the best brand and I usually ordered it by the case from Emsing's or one of our other grocery advertisers. We always added just a dash of salt to the grounds which brings out the full-bodied flavor. We made a fresh pot of coffee twice daily on our regular working days and then a late-night pot was often brewed on Friday and Monday nights when we worked late. Sometimes I prepared eggs and toast to go along with it; or we would send out to Margaret's Restaurant (just across the tracks to the south) for one of her delicious hamburgers topped with a thick slice of sweet onion.

We drank our coffee out of pink insulated mugs that several of us had collected when Borden's cottage cheese was sold in them for a time. They were ideal because they were unbreakable and were larger than a regular tea cup. During the last few years the hot plate and aluminum pot was replaced by a larger, more modern coffee urn but the pleasure of our coffee breaks and the good conversation remained the same.

PRINTING

The Shopper never owned a printing press except in the very early years when it was run off on a mimeograph. Customers often came in wanting us to do their letterheads, business cards and statements and were surprised to learn that we did not do job work because we had no printing press. Sometimes a new employee or a visitor would go into our back room expecting to see our presses and would be shocked to learn that there were none!

We made up our paper as far as the completed paste-up pages and then it was sent out to a printer to be run off. After that the printed bundles of papers were brought back to The Shopper office at 142 South Broad Street where we had our own address-o-graph. They would be individually addressed, bundled and taken to the Griffith post office for 100% mailed delivery.

ELDON BEER, OUR FIRST PRINTER

The Webers learned of Eldon Beer, a printer in Calumet City and hired him as the printer for The Shopper. When the Webers left, we continued to use Eldon, but there were lots of frustrations and problems. Eldon's equipment was not in the best of condition and was subject to frequent breakdowns. He had a rapid turnover of hired help and his service was very slow.

Joe's desk - 1950s.

Joe at his desk about 1953 before the office was remodeled. Note the deluxe washroom at the right!

In order to help Eldon speed things up, we would run over to his shop with a page or two of the paste-up just as soon as we finished it. When other pages were done, we would take them over also. It usually involved three trips to get it all there. Hopefully, if things went well with Eldon's equipment, our paper would be printed by Wednesday morning.

The paper had to be addressed and down to the Griffith Post Office by the time the post office closed at 5:00 Wednesday. In case Eldon didn't get it finished, our addressing would be delayed and we would have to work into the night on Wednesday, getting it down to the post office by the time they opened at 6:00 A.M. Thursday. It would still be in the mail on time for Thursday delivery so that people could read The Shopper and plan for their weekend shopping according to the advertised specials.

It frequently happened that we worked Wednesday nights. Fortunately the post office was only three doors to the north and we could load the papers on a dolly-roller and wheel them down there. Often the post master himself would unlock the door for us at 6:00 A.M. This was a favor for us, but it worked both ways because our business had made Griffith a "Class A" post office.

A BRAND NEW CLOCK

One time when I was talking to Eldon on the phone, he was quite upset and frustrated over breakdowns and delays and he was swearing. I let him know that I didn't appreciate that kind of language, and the matter was promptly forgotten after that. A few days later he came by the office and presented us with a gift of a large electric clock. This clock hung on the wall in our front office for many years and we often chuckled about the story of how we came to receive it.

Eldon was our printer for about five years. One of his outstanding traits was that he raised his prices frequently.

MR. KALAMEYNE

One day (probably around 1960) Mr. Al Kalameyne, a printer from South Holland, Illinois came into the office. He was a total stranger to me. He said that he owned a business called Park Press and that he would like us to give him a try at being our printer. He had never printed a shopper before but he told me that he had a press which was able to accommodate it. He offered a very reasonable price and we decided to see what he could do.

We gave Eldon six-weeks' notice that we would be using the services of another printer. He stayed with us for the entire six weeks while insisting that we would be back with him before long. (It never worked out that way).

This was the day Leona became overheated. The temperature was 99 degrees and we had no windows, only doors. Fans and air conditioning came later. June 1959.

OUR GOOD RELATIONSHIP WITH THE FOLKS AT PARK PRESS

From then on Park Press was our printer and served us well for more than 20 years--right up until the business was sold in Dec. 1985. The people at Park Press were marvelous to work with. Besides Mr. Kalameyne there was Evelyn Marshall, the bookkeeper; Andy Rietveld of the sales department; Fred _____ in the printing shop; and Ted Postema, the general manager, and others as well. They were always friendly, pleasant and helpful in every possible way.

Park Press grew by leaps and bounds over the years, doing all kinds of job printing besides booklets, newspapers and shoppers. (They even started two Shoppers of their own in South Holland and Lansing, Illinois after Andy Rietveld asked our advice on how to go about it. These became successful papers and often had 36 or more pages per week).

By the mid-1980s Park Press was printing more than 60 shoppers per week from many areas in both Indiana and Illinois, but The Griffith Shopper had the distinction of being their very first one!

GRIFFITH SHOPPER RECEIVES AMERICAN LEGION AWARD

The Griffith American Legion Post 66 presented "The American Legion's Merit Award Plaque" to The Griffith Shopper for outstanding Community Service, at the Post's annual Birthday Celebration on Sat., March 18th. Post Commander Wendell Elliott presented the Plaque to Mr. Joe Smith of The Griffith Shopper after First District Adjutant H. C. Smith offered words of praise to the Griffith Shopper for its continued efforts of outstanding community service, with added emphasis for the Shopper's fine column entitled "Operation Letters" which has been running constantly, listing all of the residents from the Griffith area now serving in the U.S. Armed Forces. Adjutant Smith pointed out the great importance of "Mail Call" to our American Servicemen and commended The Griffith Shopper's owner, Mrs. Leona James and her staff for sacrificing valuable advertising space to run this wonderful column for the benefit of our sons and daughters now serving their country....

HAULING THE PAPERS

As soon as the paper was printed some of us would be there to pick up a load. Bundles of 50 or 100 would be put into the back seat and trunk of the car. I used my car and often made two trips and Joe would also get a load or two, bringing them back to our office in Griffith to be addressed. For many years Joe and I did all of this hauling ourselves.

Later when Joe's son, Mike was old enough to drive, he used a van or truck to pick up the papers. Joe's sister, Sally and her husband Kenny Pressler helped for awhile. When Mr. Aubrey Wilcox began working for us in the mid 1970s he helped us out and his son, Don was a substitute when needed. Finally in the early 1980s we had Park Press deliver it in one of their big trucks. This saved us the hassle of making many trips back and forth. This involved a little more expense, but the convenience was well worth it.

PLATES

A metal plate with the address stamped into it was required for each paper in our circulation. The plates were about 1" x 4" in size. Our original plate-maker was an antique affair that had the alphabet and numerals on a wheel from which the operator would select each letter or number while punching it with a lever. This was a very time-consuming task. (After the postal ZIP code was required, we had to go through all our thousands of plates and add the ZIP numbers. Berniece Warner did many of them, and Carole James helped on it the summer when she was a senior in high school.

The finished plates were stored in the long, narrow drawers of our metal plate cabinets. They were divided into postal routes so that the mail carriers had them in sequence for each residence as they delivered the mail. The carriers checked the drawers occasionally, weeding out defunct addresses and requesting that we make plates for new ones. When a new subdivision or apartment building was constructed, the postmaster would give us a list of the new addresses and we would make plates and increase our circulation accordingly. The plates for residences were made to read "The Folks at" followed by the address which meant that we did not have to bother with individual names--a big help.

In the mid 1970s we purchased a used plate-making machine which had a regular typewriter keyboard that was easy to operate and much quicker than our older model. It was a noisy machine tho', and when in operation it sounded a lot like a shooting gallery!

ADDRESSING

We had a 1950 model address-o-graph that the Webers purchased just before they left and we made the first payment on it shortly after taking over the business. This machine was used every week for a total of 35 years! A second used machine was purchased in the middle 1970s which was very helpful because our circulation was so large by that time and two people could be addressing instead of just one.

A fellow from South Bend who was called Smokey (I don't recall his real name) was the service man for our address-o-graph machine during the early years. After that a fine gentleman named Lou Surufka was our service man up until 1985. Lou came four times a year for general maintenance and then we could always count on him to come when ever there was a break-down of any kind. He saved us a considerable amount of money several times by improvising ways and means of fixing things. We remember Lou for the beautiful way he could whistle tunes while he worked.

Snapshots of Joe and I at work on the address-o-graph, April 1959. Our circulation at this time was around 6,000.

GETTING THE JOB DONE

Joe did most of the addressing at first (1952-1953) and I helped. It is much easier when two people work together so that one person can stack and tie while the other sits at the machine and runs them off.

The person who was doing the addressing would remove a drawer of plates from the cabinet, set them on a tray in the address-o-graph, then feed the papers into it while the plates stamped the address on the masthead of the paper. The process was controlled by a foot lever. A stack of 50 papers could be addressed in 2 or 3 minutes. After that they would be bundled and tied and set aside to take to the post office when the entire task was finished.

We used a kind of twine called jute for tying the bundles. It was purchased in large rolls, usually from Ace Hardware. Jute is a strong natural fiber which is coarse and sharp--very hard on the hands and the fingers, often causing callouses and abrasions. Usually the person who tied would decide to wear work gloves after getting sore fingers.

FOLKS WHO HELPED

In the very early years when the Webers still owned the business, the Moffitt boys helped with getting the papers to the post office and other odd jobs that needed to be done. After the Webers left, Joe and I did all of the addressing and then Berniece Warner helped. Joe's younger brother, Danny Jordan helped out when he was in high school.

In 1965 we finally decided that we should hire someone strictly for the job of addressing. The work had grown into a 7-days a week task and on days when we finished up the paper we would often work well into the night to get everything done. On top of that, the task of addressing and getting the paper off to the post office was wearing us out. One day Joe mentioned to Harold Coppage at Griffith Furniture that we were looking for someone and Harold suggested his sister-in-law Dollie Baker. Her two children, Susan and Don were now both in school and she had Tuesdays free to work. She began in May of 1965.

The address plates were kept in the drawers at the left and marked for postal carrier routes for Griffith, Schererville and Highland. The newer address-o-graph is shown (covered) near the door. Our outside door at the right was made of heavy metal and we kept it propped with the pole to prevent break-ins.

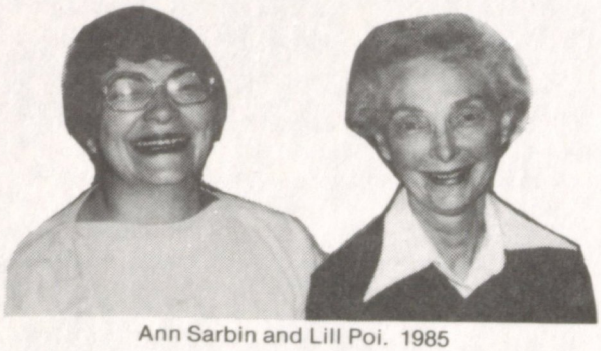
working mostly by herself--addressing, stacking, and typing the papers and then wheeling them down to the post office for mailing. Finally after about six years she began to have some health problems caused by the lifting and she decided to work in our layout department instead.

June Sell, a neighbor of Joe's mother and well-known to us then took over the addressing. Our circulation had continued to grow and more help was needed so June's daughter, Joanne Hlebasko came in to assist her and the two of them did the addressing for a long time. June retired around 1980 and Joanne left in 1982.

Lill Poi and Ann Sarbin then worked for us until the business was sold.



Ann Sarbin and Lill Poi. 1985

Over the years several men helped with bundling, tying, loading the truck and getting the papers down to the post office: Raleigh Sell (June's husband), Aubrey Wilcox, Don Wilcox, Dan Oprea, Ray Droba and Joe Parvo.

In April, 1977 the Griffith Post Office decided to relocate, building larger and more modern facilities. This made it much less convenient for for us because when they were just two doors north of our office we could wheel the papers down there on foot. The post office moved a mile away--to the corner of 45th and Broad Streets. This meant that we had to hire someone with either a van or an enclosed truck to transport the papers to the post office for us. Mr. Aubrey Wilcox was in charge of keep-this position filled. Mr. Wilcox's son, Don and his wife Mary Ann were very helpful in the circulation department for several years.

THE BREAK-IN

It was in 1968--the morning that I was at home preparing to leave for a vacation in Hawaii when the phone rang about 9 o'clock. It was Joe who had just arrived at the office for work and had discovered that a break-in had occurred during the night. He told me not to panic and that everything was under control, but that he felt I should know about it before leaving on the trip.

Apparently the intruders assumed that our neighbors on the south--the Superior Loan Company would have a large amount of cash on hand in their office and they would like to help themselves to it. They tried to gain entrance through our rear door but it was made of heavy steel and they only succeeded in denting it in a few places. They finally got in through our rear window and once inside probably thought that there was a door between our office and Superior, but there was no door, only a cement block wall. They went to work on the wall and chopped a hole large enough for one person to squeeze through, but alas! Superior Loan kept no cash on hand and their night's work was all in vain!

The police investigated but no one was ever arrested or charged in the case.

Another time $25 was taken from our cash register when the door was left unlocked. As far as we know these were the only two times that intruders ever entered our office and neither of these times was any vandalism done to our machines or equipment which could have caused a lot of problems for us. We were very thankful.

NEW EQUIPMENT

In May of 1975 we decided that the time had come to purchase some new typesetting equipment. Our headliners had done a splendid job over the years but now new electronic machines could produce quicker and more professional-looking results. We chose a Compugraphic 7200 model that had a typewriter keyboard and could produce lettering in eight point sizes from 14 to 72 by just turning a knob. The fonts were film strips about 18 inches long and 2½ inches wide which were placed two at a time on a circular wheel (magazine) that turned rapidly and flashed the typed characters on film paper into a cassette. After the typing was finished the film in the cassette had to be developed in a separate processor machine which rolled it through liquid developer and fixer chemicals as it traveled through the machine. The finished product was a strip of paper all ready for ad making or news headlines.

The paper came out of the machine slightly damp but rather than purchase an expensive automatic dryer for $700, Esther (Bencze) suggested we use an iron and ironing board to do the job. She even brought an old iron down to the office that she no longer used to try it out. It proved to be an ideal way to dry the tapes with just a quick pass of the iron across the paper and we used this method from then on.

At the close of each working day, fresh water needed to be circulated through the processor to keep the strong chemicals from corroding the equipment and the chemicals had to be changed once a week. About once a month the rubber rollers would be removed and soaked in water and the chemical tanks scrubbed out. The girls took turns doing this and kept our machines in good working order.

Lois selects a font and attaches it to the Compugraphic typesetting machine. The fonts (filmstrips) are hanging on the wall behind her. Eight pages are shown on the wall at the left. Ads are already on the pages and news will be filled in to finish up the page before going to press. August, 1981.

Even though our Compugraphic 7200 did not justify or set blocks of type (only single lines on a long strip) it was a real "work horse"-a great machine!

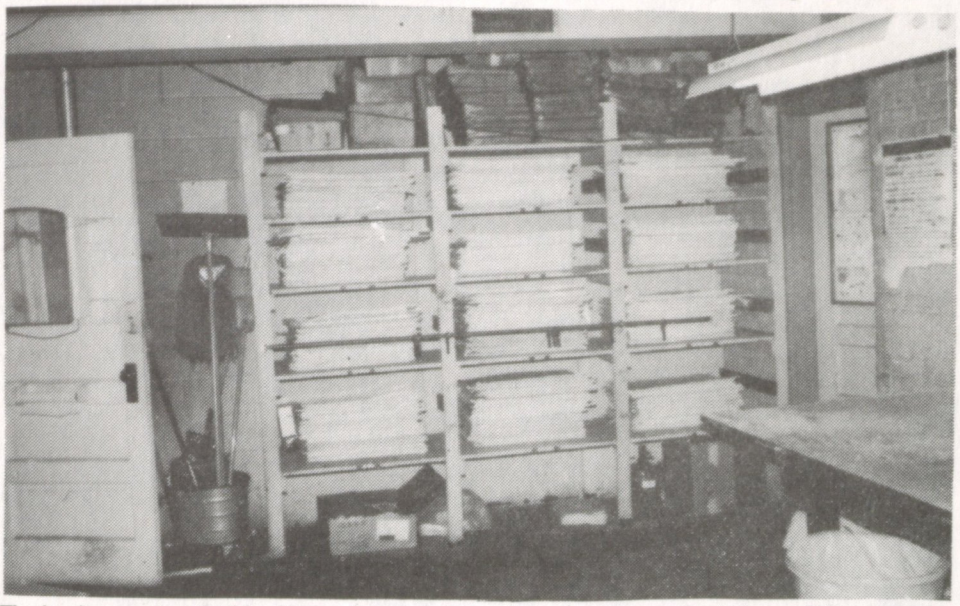
POINT SIZES:

14 18 24 30 36 48 60 72

The fonts had several typestyles which had the names of: Dom Casual, Commercial Script, Erbar, Futura, Murray, Cooper, Bolt Bold (this one was Joe's favorite), Cheltenham, English Times and News Gothic. We also had one reverse font which produced white letters on a black background.

THE VISUAL GRAPHICS CAMERA

Up until 1979 Park Press did all of our special camera work such as enlargements, reductions, reverses and half-tones. We would size the material according to column width or to the proportion of the ad and paste down a piece of black construction paper to indicate the finished size and the position where it was to be placed. The original would be sent along to Park Press to work from. Their camera department would do the work before the printing process was begun and then would bill us accordingly. This involved a lot of extra work for them and considerable expense for us, but for many years it was the best system available to us.



The back room - north side. Notice the 12 shelves where the Stamps-Conheim and Metro monthly clip art books were kept. The cleaning supplies and water heater were behind the washroom door at the left. The table on the right is where the papers were stacked and tied during addressing.

Finally Ted Postema from the production department at Park Press phoned and suggested we purchase a stat camera of our own so that all our pages would be ready for their printing department to work on as soon as they received our finished paste-up. Ted was knowledgable in the camera department and he suggested several models that he felt would do a satisfactory job for us.

A call was made to the Visual Graphics Corporation and it was learned that they were having a sales demonstration in Fort Wayne on Tuesday, March 6, 1979 and they would be delighted to have us attend. I drove and took Lois and Esther along. The Visual Graphics people demonstrated their "Pos One" cameras and we were very impressed--no water hook-up was required, they were easy to use and could handle any and all of our requirements.

A few days later we ordered the Visual Graphics model CPS-316 Pos One camera and delivery followed about six weeks later. It served us very well for the remaining 6½ years that we owned the Shopper.

SHOP & SAVE IN GRIFFITH

Griffith was a busy town as shown by this 1959 photo--taken from the roof of the Town Hall on Broad Street.

Downtown Griffith, corner Main and Broad Streets looking north on Broad. April 1959.

GRIFFITH ADVERTISERS

In the beginning the purpose of the Griffith Shopper was to stimulate business and to be of service to Griffith only, emphasizing the downtown area. We did not want to accept grocery advertising that would compete with our regular Griffith grocers who advertised with us every week; nor did we want lumber companies or hardware stores that might send shoppers away from downtown. In fact for a time we even turned down some potential advertisers in order to be loyal to the downtown Griffith merchants.

However, after a few years we learned that in order to survive we would have to reach out to the surrounding suburban areas. This would include the businesses on Ridge Road as well as Highland and Schererville. When Jewel moved in we even felt a twinge of concern because they were a national chain and all of our previous advertisers had been local people whom we knew personally.

In the early years Strack's Royal Blue Store (later to become Strack's Certified--and still later Strack and Van Til's Mega Mart) was among our steady weekly advertisers. Griffith Hardware, Ben Franklin Dime Store, Christenson's, McFarland Lumber Company, Griffith Pharmacy, WiseWay Food Stores, Shakey's, Brumm's Bloomin' Barn, Terpstra's, Ace Hardware, Party Liquors, C & R Stationery, Kaplan's Shoes, Shakula Pharmacy, Ribordy's Drug Store, PTL Tire & Auto, and Price Realty were some of our most continuous advertisers, altho' there were many, many others who advertised just once or twice a month. Van's Shoe Repair was the only one who ran a 1 x 1 ad and they were with us almost continually until they retired in 1981. Kilmer Spencer's 1 x 2 ad, however--altho' small, ran weekly without interruption for the entire 35 years of my ownership.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

During the early years it was a dreaded time for me when it would become necessary to raise the rates. From time to time printing costs would rise and postage rates would be increased making it necessary for us to raise our rates accordingly; but many of our advertisers were struggling along, just as we were and it was painful for me to have to tell them that our rates were going up. At one of these times I timidly went down to see Ernie Strack to tell him about the rate increase and this is what he said to me: "Leona, when I cease to make a reasonable profit in my business, I will close the doors." I realized then that this was the motto of any successful business and that a rate increase occasionally was necessary. From then on I did not feel apologetic about it and I realized that he had given me sound advice.

ADDITIONAL NOTES ABOUT POSTAGE

When we acquired the Griffith Shopper, our postage was costing from $45 to $50 per week. As our volume increased and postage continued to rise, it was not long before our post office was advanced to a "Class A" post office.

Postage continued to rise and when the new owners purchased The Shopper we were mailing 19,800 papers at the cost of from $1600 to $1650 per week!

We previously had a similar sign with the bullseye logo in decal form on the window but we had gone to considerable expense due to breakage and vandalism so we replaced it with this hanging sign.

The only advertiser who was with us from beginning to end was Kilmer Spencer.

SPECIAL PROMOTIONS

By emphasizing downtown Griffith we tried to help the merchants organize special sales promotions such as Moonlight Madness, Dollar Days, Sidewalk Sales and "Crazy Tuesday."

The Crazy Tuesday was an exciting event that was held annually a few times and it involved a lot of work for us. The merchants ran their ads in The Shopper designating certain merchandise that could be purchased at fantastic prices to those people who had a Shopper number that matched the store's posted number. For example, Griffith Furniture might sell a $200 chair for 49¢ to the person who had #1462; or Griffith True Value Hardware might sell three $150 lawn mowers for $1.49 to the holders of #1002, #8421 and #1455. Each store selected their own specials and numbers that sent the folks scurrying to their doors to see if their number was posted.

For us it meant that each paper in our circulation had to have its own number. We numbered them consecutively from 1 to 10,000 or whatever our circulation happened to be at that particular time. Several times in the beginning we had to number them by hand ourselves with a small numbering machine. Later Park Press did it for us which was a big help and saved us much time.

One year The Shopper joined into the spirit of the day by offering a used car (which cost us $250) for 13¢ to the number that we posted. Fortunately no one came up with the lucky number and we did not have to give it, but it was there for the taking if it had been claimed.

The Griffith Girl Scouts had a stand in front of the Town Hall during the Sidewalk Sale in June, 1959 in order to raise money for their projects.

At around 8:30 on the morning of Crazy Tuesday, the Griffith police would block off the 100 block of Broad Street so that people could cross to the stores without contending with traffic. It also made room for vendors to come in, such as a produce wagon, popcorn machine, lemonade stand, sidewalk bake sales and other promotions and activities.

All in all it was a great time of cooperation among the merchants and it brought many folks into the downtown area of Griffith--the purpose of the whole event.

AWARDS and APPRECIATION

Down through the years The Griffith Shopper won many awards, both for advertising and for community service.

After we joined the NAAP (National Association of Advertising Papers) we were invited to enter their competition by submitting comments from our readers giving their opinions. We inserted a small notice at the bottom of a page saying that if our readers were pleased with our paper we would be delighted to have them drop us a line telling us so.

We were overwhelmed with an enthusiastic response! One memorable letter was contributed by Miss Elsie Wadsworth, a beloved Griffith elementary school teacher. She told of our service to the community and made this statement which we fondly remember: "The Griffith Shopper covers this area like the dew covers Dixie." She was referring to The Shopper's blanket coverage and we felt like her statement really said it well.

The many letters we received were bound into a notebook and sent to the NAAP office where they were critiqued and judged along with current issues of The Shopper.

Meanwhile we kept busy and nearly forgot about our entry in the competition when, a few months later, a telegram arrived saying we had won Fourth Place in their nationwide contest. From there we went on to win Third Place and finally to the top when we won First Place in 1962. After that we were permitted to use the NAAP logo at the top of our masthead saying that we were an "Award Winning Paper."

Several of our award pages are reproduced in the following section taken from various years.

It must be mentioned that The Shopper was an advertising paper and not a newspaper so we did not employ any staff to go out and cover meetings or to take photographs. The news and pictures that we printed were submitted to us by the various churches, organizations and schools who had news items which they wanted to publicize. Since Griffith did not have a newspaper of its own, The Shopper filled a need and our readers and advertisers often expressed their thanks to us.

We not only received recognition from the NAAP but we were often the recipient of framed certificates and plaques from local schools, churches, clubs and organizations that appreciated us printing their news. These framed awards were hung in our front office for all to see when entering our front door. There were so many of them that after awhile we had very little bare wall space left--a nice tribute from these grateful groups.

OUR SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EDITION

Each year we made up a special Christmas supplement consisting of anywhere from 12 to 16 pages that was inserted into the regular Shopper the week before Christmas. The ads all had a Christmas or holiday flavor and most were chosen from the Stamps-Conheim Christmas clip-art books. The advertiser's name or logo was placed at the bottom of the greeting.

We had a special list of calls to make for this once-a-year edition because there were some businesses who never advertised at any other time during the year except to run a Christmas or New Years' greeting to their customers. I usually made the phone calls and helped the advertiser select an ad, but it involved a lot of extra time besides having the other regular weekly calls to make. Several years some of our ladies helped out with this--Ann Miller, Jeanne Smith, Lorraine Hilbrich or one of the others made the calls and assembled the material for the ads.

Over the years I had clipped and collected inspirational Christmas pieces to use for the fill copy around the Christmas issue ads. There were several pieces that we used nearly every year which brought favorable comments from our readers: "Goin' To Grandpa's", "Little Things", "Speak Gently" and "Take Time". (They are shown on the following page).

Park Press was helpful by ordering special colored newsprint (usually light green) for our Christmas supplement. We worked ahead so it could be sent to Park Press at least a week in advance, allowing enough time for printing and addressing. When the day came for it to be mailed, we would do what we called "stuffing"--putting the regular paper inside of the Christmas supplement. We needed extra help on that day so several of our ladies would come in and give us a hand for this

I dug up half his garden ...A-gittin' worms fer bait...He said he used to like it...When I laid abed so late...He said that pie was good for boys...An' candy made 'em grow... Ef I can't go to Gran'pa's ...I'll turn pirate fust you know.

He even run a race with me...But had to stop an' cough...He rode my bicycle an' laughed...Bec'us' he tumbled off...He knew the early apple trees... Around within a mile... Oh, Gran'pa was a dandy ...An' was "in it" all the while.

I bet you Gran'pa's lonesome...I don't care what you say...I seen him kinder cryin'...When you took me away...When you talk to me of heaven ...Where all the good folks go...I guess I'll go to Gran'pa's...An' we'll have good times, I know.

It Takes So Little

It takes so little to make us sad..Just a slighting word or a doubting sneer..Just a scornful smile on some lips held dear..And our footsteps lag, though the goal seemed near..And we lose the courage and hope we had..So little it takes to make us sad..It takes so little to make us glad.. Just a cheering clasp of a friendly hand.. Just a word from one who can understand..And we finish the task we long had planned.. And we lose the doubt and the fear we had..So little it takes to make us glad.

Little Things

Oh, it's just the little homely things, the unobstrusive, friendly things, the won't-you-let-me-help-you things that make our pathway light. It's just the jolly, joking things, the never-mind-the-trouble things, the laugh-with-me-it's-funny things that make the world seem bright. For all the countless, famous, things, the wondrous record-breaking things, those never-can-be-equaled-things, that all the papers cite are not like little human things, the just because-I-like-you things that make us happy quite! So here's to all the little things, the done-and-then forgotten things, those Oh-it's-simply-nothing things that make life worth the fight.

once-a-year task.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Each year around December 11th we would take an hour or two out of our busy day to have a Christmas party with our office staff. It had originally begun as a birthday party for Joe, but over the years as our staff had grown, it became a combination birthday/Christmas party.

Around 3:00 on the designated day, the girls who were not working that day would come in and join the rest of us. A fresh pot of coffee would be made and I would bring out the Raspberry Angel Cake Dessert that had become a traditional favorite over the years. (Recipe is on a following page). After cutting and serving the cake, the Birthday Song would be sung and congratulations and best wishes given to Joe. (Lois would be going around as the Roving Photographer snapping pictures of everyone). Gifts were then exchanged, the greatly-appreciated Christmas bonuses were distributed and good conversation among friends prevailed.

NEW OWNERS OF THE GRIFFITH SHOPPER

In 1985 I knew that the time had come to sell The Griffith Shopper. It had been my intention that Joe would probably take over the business when I retired, but his serious illness and his death on July 31, 1985 changed all that.

I was interested in a buyer who would keep our employees and help the paper to continue to grow and prosper. Joel Remaley of Hobart (a member of the Herald News Group that publishes weekly tabloid papers in Merrillville, Hobart, Lake Station, Portage and Valparaiso) became the new owner, taking over the business on January 1, 1986.

The Griffith Shopper is no longer a small town publication, but it is big business--growing and making rapid strides, with its own staff--developing a publication of which Griffith can be very proud.

It is with the deepest sense of gratitude, love and appreciation that I acknowledge all the kindness extended to me during these 35 years, especially from my loyal and hard-working employees.

I am deeply grateful to have had the opportunity to be of service to Griffith for 35 years--and appreciate the wonderful cooperation and support we received from the area businesses.

"Joe and Leona" - December 13, 1979.

NOTES ABOUT JOE SMITH

Joe Smith was born in Lake Station and lived there until he was 12 or 13 years old, moving to Griffith with his parents, Merrill and Jenny Jordan. He had a sister, Sally (Mrs. Kenny Pressler) and a brother, Danny Jordan, both younger than he. Joe attended Griffith Schools and had many friends among whom were Dick Spitz, Bill Parsons and the Moffitt boys.

Joe - 1981

It was while in Griffith High School that Joe had his first contact with Joe and Doris Weber. Doris was a teacher at G.H.S. and Joe was in her study hall where she observed him drawing pictures and doodling. She knew that he had an exceptional artistic talent.

Joe served briefly in World War II, being stationed at an army base in the state of Washington. Back home after the war he had various jobs: working on an ore boat on the Great Lakes; employment at one of the big steel mills and bartending at the American Legion Post 66 in Griffith.

Joe's real talent was in drawing and commercial art. He attended the American Academy of Art in Chicago in 1949-1950. It was about this time that he came to work at the Griffith Shopper for Joe and Doris Weber doing layout work and hand lettering on some of the grocery ads.

After the Webers left, Joe continued with us, eventually working full-time and assuming managerial duties. He did some sales contact, but since he did not have an out-going personality he preferred working at his desk doing layout and design which he did so well.

One of Joe's memorable projects around town was painting a display sign for the Ben Franklin Store on the side of the Lou Mar Lounge. The snapshot below is a picture of that sign, altho' the photo was torn and does not do justice to how well the sign really looked. We often spoke of how well the job was done because it was on the building for at least ten years without ever chipping or peeling off and was finally covered up when another building occupied the space.

Jeanne Cotter became Joe's wife on December 18, 1954 at a ceremony performed at the Christian Church in Griffith by Rev. Hargrave. Joe and Jeanne became parents of three wonderful children: April, Mike and Patsy.

Joe would frequently be seen around town as he went out to pick up ads from WiseWay, Terpstra's, Ace Hardware, Family Market or other advertisers. On Tuesday mornings he would be out delivering tear sheets. Sometimes his mother would ride along with him. She had become a widow in 1981 and since she didn't drive, this was a good way for her to get out and spend some time with her son.

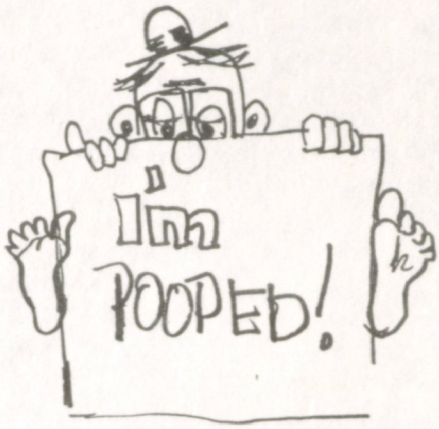
Joe's untimely death from cancer on July 31, 1985 left an emptiness that can never be filled. He was a loyal co-worker and dear friend as well.

Memories of Working with Joe

By the Co-Workers in the Office

We have many humorous and nostalgic memories of Joe...

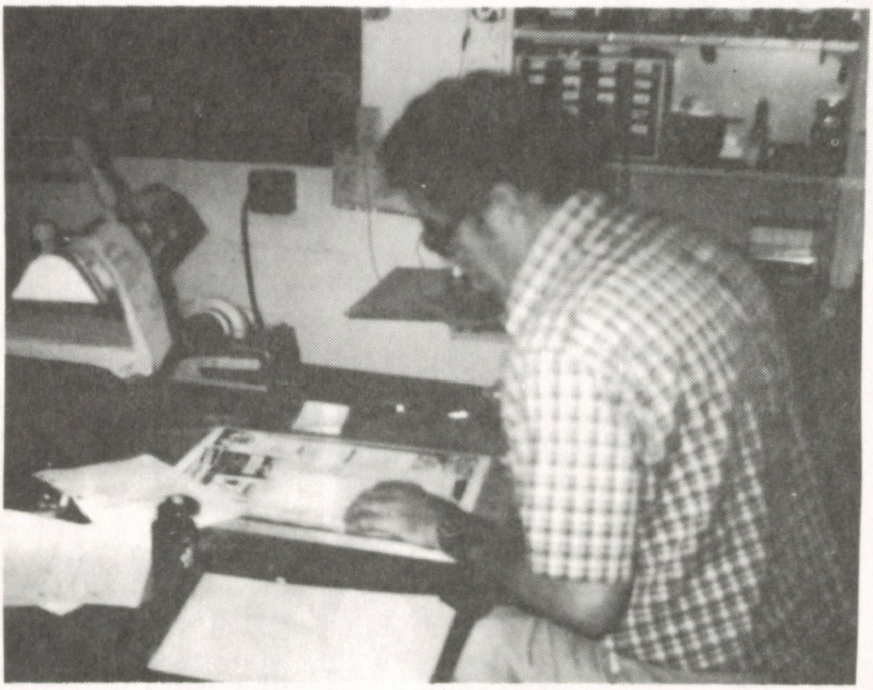
He would frequently misplace his scissors. The girls would immediately stop whatever they were doing so that all could hunt for them. If they didn't turn up in a few minutes someone would suggest that he check his back pocket, and sure enough, there they'd be! They would all file silently back to their desks and Joe would sheepishly say, "I think I'll go now, me Mudder's calling me..."



This little man often was drawn in various positions as Joe would be doodling while on the telephone.

Joe liked to go to his mother's for lunch. She enjoyed cooking for him a couple times a week and his favorite was her cabbage rolls. He also was fond of her roast pork sandwiches and baked beans. We would always ask him what she had prepared for his lunch and he enjoyed telling us about her good cooking.

Joe was not a talkative person and we girls knew that our chatter frequently got on his nerves. Sometimes we would ask him something and he would say, "I don't want to talk about it" and we would know that there have been 'nuf said.



Joe busy at his desk working on a full page display ad. October, 1982.

Joe cutting tear sheets - May, 1978. (He was wearing a beard at that time).

Leona would go out nearly every day to pick up ads, often making several stops at various places in the area. When she would be gone longer than usual, Joe would begin to worry. He would ask one of the girls "Where's our Leader?" and he would pace the floor until she was back to the office safe and sound.

Occasionally when we would have a slow week (and we didn't have them very often), Joe would get into one of his cleaning-up moods. We would all get very nervous because Joe would throw away everything, even the odds and ends that we girls planned to use "someday". When Joe would decide to move some of the desks or change around the office furniture we all held our breath because he was a bit rough when it came to moving furniture. We never could understand this because he had such a "soft" touch when it came to drawing, sketching or writing.

Joe drew this golfer cartoon for an ad for Falvey's Men's Store in Griffith. He did quite a few of these kind of ads in the 1960s.

Joe had a liking for Ticonderoga pencils--a brand of yellow pencil with a #2 lead that had a reputation for being the Cadillac of pencils. He kept one in the pencil holder on his desk and woe unto us if it came up missing. We would have to drop everything and join in the search. (Lois had told him that Ticonderoga was an inappropriate name for a pencil anyway--that name sounded like something in the line of earth-moving equipment!)

Joe liked to save the first and last editions of newspapers and he had a collection of several from our area that had become defunct. He enjoyed the trivia column in the Hammond Times and often remarked about some unusual fact he'd read there. He faithfully mailed in the Reader's Digest Coupon Sweepstakes, hoping to be the next winner.

Our 10 o'clock morning coffee was very delicious but by the time the coffee had stood in the aluminum pot until our afternoon break, it wasn't quite as tasty. We girls thought it was okay but Joe, after taking a few sips would walk disgustedly out the front door and pour his remaining coffee on the weeds.

We always laughed about Joe's trait of going out the front door of the office and then coming right back in again. He'd usually think of something he'd forgotten to take along or something he wanted to remind us of before he left. As he'd leave the first time, one of us would say, "He'll be back in 30 seconds" and sure enough, he would!

Fridays were our busiest days at The Shopper. We would be working silently and frantically to get finished and after while there would be tension in the air. Then Joe would burst out singing in a comic foreign accent: "I vas dancing wid me darlin' to da Tennessee Valtz..." and we would all have a good laugh. Sometimes he would play it on his kazoo and that too, was hilarious. Dollie often suggested that he should learn a new piece, perhaps "The Flight of the Bumblebee" but he continued to stay with The Tennessee Waltz. Often during the day while he was working on an ad he would whistle and it was always the same--the first six notes of "It's The Saturday Dance".

We had a "conversation piece" in the comp room--the dried banana that sat on top of the wall clock. Someone (probably Joe) had brought a banana for a snack and it didn't get eaten right away--it just stayed on the desk and became over-ripe. Instead of actually rotting, it just burned black and petrified so we kept it on display for our own amusement.

We girls used trigger-type oil cans filled with rubber cement for our pasting jobs, but Joe never could get used to using them. He preferred a small jar of cement with a brush and did his pasting on a stack of blank pieces of paper, using a fresh piece for each pasting job. There were always papers scattered on the floor around his desk with sticky paste on them. (We called them "goop" papers). Often when one of us would walk past Joe's desk, a sheet of paper would stick to our shoe and as we stooped to pull it off, we'd hear Joe's fiendish "He, He, He" chuckle in the background!

Joe gives April his expert advice on a display ad that she had made. Jan. 1985.

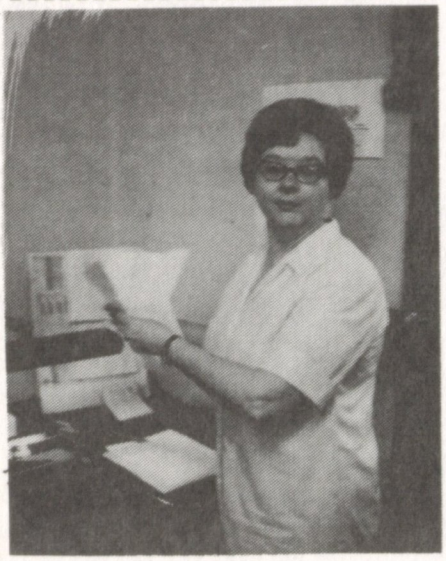
EMPLOYEES

BERNIECE WARNER was the first person we hired after we bought The Shopper. She lived down on South Broad Street and was a neighbor and friend of Ray and Kate Anderson. Berniece was a petite blonde with violet eyes whom Joe nick-named "Myrt". She was a versatile employee who did typing, proofing, addressing and she put thousands of ZIP codes on our plates when the ZIP became a postal requirement in around 1964. The photo at the left shows her with co-workers Ann Miller (left) and Joe Smith in the back room near Joe's desk. Berniece was a great help in the early years. She could be counted on to stay and help finish up the paper on "go to press" days, even though it was often very late at night. She became a widow while she worked at The Shopper and then she remarried to Mr. Clarence Swaeby and moved to Boulder, Colorado. She passed away a few years ago from the disease of myasthenia gravis.

ANN MILLER (Mrs. Ed Miller) started working for us in 1961 or 1962 and was with us as a full-time employee until she retired in 1976. She is about 5' tall and has a calm, quiet personality. Ann could handle nearly all aspects of the work such as designing ads, making bookkeeping entries, taking classified ads and orders for wedding invitations, and she had an excellent way with customers. Ann was in charge of the twice-daily coffee making which was a life saver for us all. We would come a-running when she would announce, "Coffee is being served in the middle east room." Ann passed away in November, 1987 from cancer.

MADELYN BOHNAKER worked for us for five years or so. She was originally from out east and she spoke with a Pennsylvania accent. She had to leave when her husband's job required them to move back there. Her duties at The Shopper consisted mainly of working on the news, answering the phone and waiting on customers. I still hear from her every year at Christmastime.

DOLLIE BAKER (Mrs. Donald Baker) came to work for us when we wanted someone to take over the Tuesday work of addressing and mailing The Shopper. Joe asked Harold Coppage at Griffith Furniture if he happened to know of anyone who would be interested and Harold suggested his sister-in-law, Dollie Baker. Dollie began in May of 1965 when the circulation was about 7,400 and she continued to do the addressing for 5 or 6 years. By that time our circulation had increased greatly and she felt that handling the heavy bundles was starting to cause health problems. So June Sell took over the addressing job and Dollie began working 2½ days a week in the Comp Room doing Strack & Van Til's grocery ad, and other ads as well. She became a vital part of our work force and her happy disposition made her a favorite of us all. Dollie was with us until I sold the business on December 31, 1985 except for a few months during 1984--a total of 19½ years.

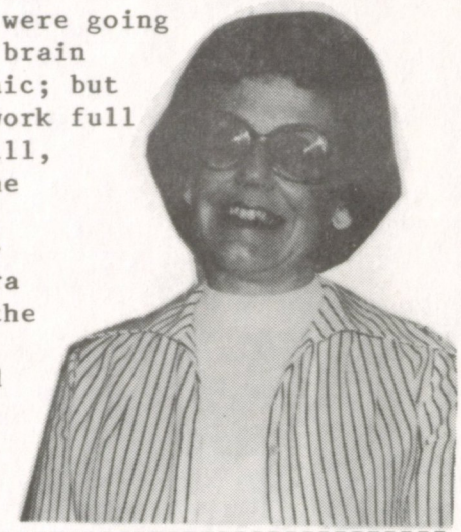


HALLEEN GALL (Mrs. Mike Gall) came to work for us in about 1965 and was with us for eight years, until June of 1973. She worked exclusively on the news and usually put in 2½ days per week. Her unusual first name came from the fact that she was born on Halloween day. Halleen left to take a job with the school system so that she could have summers off to be with her family. Later she and her husband lived at the Mansard apartment complex and she worked in the office there.

BARBARA HILBRICH (Mrs. Dick Hilbrich) was with us for a short time, 1972-73. She worked on typing the classified ads and also did the half-page coupon ad for Shakula Pharmacy each week. Joe often teased her about the way she would rummage through the waste basket looking for something she had mistakenly thrown away. Barbara was the niece of Jeanne and Joe Smith--the daughter of Jeanne's sister, Geraldine. Barbara lived in Highland then and later moved to Schererville.

MARTHA ROCHFORD (Mrs. Sheldon Rochford) came to work for us in the Spring of 1972 as head of the news department. She was an expert typist and possessed an efficient, business-like manner and was always willing to do extra things that needed to be done. Martha had a very neat appearance, usually wearing lovely suits that she had expertly tailored herself. Martha was with us for about 14 years, retiring when I sold the business--a loyal, dedicated hard worker. Martha was formerly Martha Spitz whose parents were early Griffith residents. She and her husband, Shel, often recovered chairs and helped in various ways to keep our furniture and equipment in good shape.

LOIS LOHMAN (Mrs. Lavern Lohman) came to work for us in March, 1973 after Barbara Hilbrich left. One of her first assignments was to learn how to do Shakula's half-page coupon ad. We thought we were going to lose her in 1975 when she was stricken with a brain tumor and had to undergo surgery at the Mayo Clinic; but she made a remarkable recovery and continued to work full time for a total of 13 years. After Joe became ill, Lois assumed the managerial duties: laying out the pages, assembling the paper, delivering the tear sheets, picking up ads, etc. Lois enjoyed photography and often had her camera with her, taking pictures of the activities at The Shopper and sharing them with all. The ad at the left is the one that both Lois and Esther responded to and both began working at The Shopper in 1973.



Help Wanted

MATURE WOMAN WITHOUT small child responsibilities, for advertising layout work, paste-up and some typing. 1 to 3 days per week - Regular Saturday work. Write The Griffith Shopper, Box 1631, 142 S. Broad St., Griffith, Indiana, 46319.

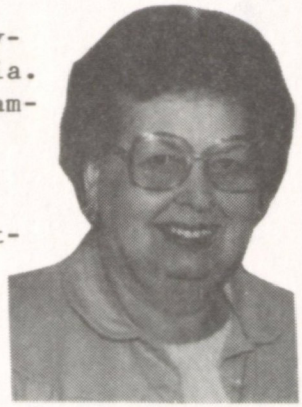
ESTHER BENCZE (Mrs. William Bencze) began working for us on July 18, 1973 taking Halleen Gall's place. Esther had a flair for designing ads but she also took care of ordering wedding invitations, taking classifieds and she was particularly adept at fixing things that were broken. It was her idea to bring an iron so that we could dry the typeset tapes by ironing them instead of having to purchase an expensive dryer. Esther had a "green thumb" and kept the plants in the front office looking their best. She was a gourmet cook who often shared recipes with us. We remember Esther's lovely silver hair which never had a strand out of place and her color coordinated wardrobe. Esther was with us for about 9 years, retiring in December of 1982 so that she and Bill could spend winters in Florida.

LORRAINE HILBRICH (Mrs. J. Arthur Hilbrich) started on May 15, 1974 as a worker in the front office. She answered the phone, took classifieds, waited on customers, sent out classified statements and made the coffee. Just two months later Lorraine became a widow when her husband, Art passed away unexpectedly. She continued to work for a few months after that but then her mother's illness forced her to quit for a couple years. In May of 1977 Lorraine came back to fill in for Corinne Storm who was recuperating from surgery and she stayed on permanently after that, doing the bookkeeping. She is shown here seated at our newer model address-o-graph making plates. Lorraine's sense of humor and her hearty laugh was enjoyed by all.

CAROLE FRANKIEWICZ (Mrs. Ted Frankiewicz) began on June 4, 1975. She had been a former employee of the Gary School System for many years. Her duties were mainly in the front office typing news, waiting on customers and doing ad corrections. Carole was with us until October of 1976 when she and her husband built a new home in Portage and moved there.

CORINNE STORM began on August 20, 1975. She was a very small lady with an unusually deep voice who lived in Schererville. She had grown up in Griffith and one of her sisters is Jeanne Laich who operates Jeanne's School of Dance. Corinne worked in the front office, did bookkeeping entries and made plates. She is shown here at our older model address-o-graph. Corinne left us in September of 1978 when she moved to California to make her home in the San Diego area.

LEE WEBER, a good friend of Corinne Storm started on November 3, 1976. At that time she lived in Schererville Heights then a few years later moved to Griffith. Lee's real name was Shirley but she was always known as Lee to us. She was a petite blonde, soft spoken and mild mannered. Lee worked in the front office most of the time, waiting on customers and typing the news, being Martha's assistant in the news department. She had a flair for doing small ads very well and was good at camera work on the news photos. Lee remarried during the summer of 1985 and left after being with us for nearly nine years.



MARY FRITZ (Mrs. Elmer Fritz) began working for us on November 6, 1978 after Corinne Storm left to move to California. She became a widow the following March. Mary has strong family roots in Griffith--coming from the Beiriger family. She had many years previous work experience at Christenson's. Mary's duties at The Shopper consisted of working in the front office, typing news, mailing tear sheets, waiting on customers and making the coffee. When the Griffith carrier routes were started it eventually became necessary to have the front office open on Tuesdays and Mary was the one who kept things running smoothly on that day. She usually worked a couple other days a week as well. Mary had a calm and easy-going personality that was appreciated by everyone.

IRENE JUBINSKY (Mrs. Paul Jubinsky) started working at The Shopper on January 6, 1980. Her duties were mostly in the front office helping with the news and waiting on customers. Later she was a great help with many of the bookkeeping details. Irene usually worked on Thursdays and Saturdays but filled in other days when needed, as most of the others did also. Whenever there were a few spare moments, Irene would keep busy by cleaning and keeping things neat and tidy.

JENNY PARVO (Mrs. Joe Parvo) began on May 24, 1982, replacing Esther when she retired. Her duties included filling out the weekly call sheet, making up the work sheet, waiting on customers and learning to make ads. At first Jenny nearly gave up and felt that she wasn't qualified to learn ad building, but it wasn't long before she was making beautiful ads and enjoying her work. Jenny started out working only a couple days a week, but during the last two years she worked full time, and was with us until the business was sold in December, 1985. She was always thorough in her work and a dedicated, dependable, loyal employee.

CAROLE DUNN (Mrs. Ronald Dunn) began on November 16, 1983. Carole had previous experience in making plates on an address-o-graph and so it became her duty to keep our plates up to date and make new ones regularly. She also typed news, waited on customers and did other front office work as well as doing a few display ads each week. She was with us until the business was sold in December, 1985 and her usual working days were Wednesdays and Saturdays. Carole always wore colorful clothes and had a beautiful smile.

APRIL KRUSE (Mrs. Jim Kruse) began working for us in the fall of 1984. April is the oldest child of Joe and Jean Smith and has always been talented in the field of art, just like her father. She began by doing Family Market's two-page grocery ad, learning the basics of laying out the pages and using the typesetting equipment and then she progressed into other ads giving them her own personal artistic flair. Joe was pleased to have his daughter working with him in the comp room, using her talents in the field of lay-out advertising as he had done for so many years. April was with us for about eight months--until June of 1985 when school was out and she needed to be at home with her two children.

OTHER LADIES WHO WORKED FOR US : There were several other ladies who worked in the front office and in the lay-out department over the years. My daughter, Carole James worked a few summers when she was in high school helping by making many of the plates for the address-o-graph and then she helped out again for a few months in 1976. Mildred Morris was with us in 1978 and Dorothy Urbanik in 1979-1980. Jean Clemens was with us briefly two different times in 1980 and 1982 and finally Judy Onda was with us for six months in 1985. There may have been a few others who helped out at various times when needed.

JEANNE SMITH , Joe's wife, was helpful to us in so many ways. For at least two years (perhaps more) she took charge of getting the Christmas greeting ads for our Christmas supplement. She made the weekly calls for me for a number of times when I was on vacation. (Ann Miller and Lorraine Hilbrich did it several times, too). But Jeanne's biggest contribution was in getting the Griffith carrier routes initiated in July 1976.

The Shopper had always prided itself on 100% mail delivery but the high cost of postage was becoming a problem. Most shoppers are distributed by carriers and not by mail.

Joe had often discussed with me the possibility of going to carrier routes for our 6,000 Griffith residences but I was always reluctant to get into the hassle of having so many people to deal with and the many problems that would arise from it. Even though the postage rates were high, you always knew that every address would receive its Shopper and carriers are not always as dependable as the U.S. Postal Service.

It was finally decided that we would give it a try. Joe promised that he and Jeanne would handle the entire operation and that I would not have to be involved.

Jeanne stepped in and went ahead with all the details. She mapped out the routes after checking the postal delivery zones. She checked out the applications, went to the homes and hired the kids. (It was necessary to get cooperation from the entire family in order to have a successful route and the kids had to meet our standards for dependability).

One route at a time was started, beginning with the Mansard Apartment complex near Ridge Road. Mike Smith, Joe and Jeanne's son, had a truck which was used to bring the 1,400 Shoppers to the Mansards where Mike and Jeanne delivered them to each of the buildings. (Postage at that time was about 9¢ for each paper so some savings was realized from this procedure).

One by one the routes were begun. Jeanne and Mike would drive up and down the streets making sure the carrier had placed the Shopper (rolled with a rubber band) on the doorknob.

Eventually 15 routes were required to cover all of the Town of Griffith--6,000 residences. Jeanne had a sizeable task to keep carriers on all routes and having substitutes ready in case of illness or vacation. There was payroll to count out into envelopes and see that the carriers were paid once a month and there always had to be a backlog of carriers in the event of someone quitting. For the most part the youngsters were very good. Some families had several members handling their route over the years and usually the parents made sure the child was on the job and finished the route satisfactorily.

After about a year, Mr. Aubrey Wilcox took over the supervision of the carriers with Mata, his wife helping out by keeping records and taking phone messages, etc. Mr. Wilcox still kept in touch with Jeanne because she had done all the initial groundwork and he appreciated her expertise.

The carrier routes were in operation for approximately nine years and Jeanne's good planning from the very beginning made it all possible.

MR. AUBREY WILCOX came to work for us in 1976 when we discontinued mailing to the 6,000 Griffith home addresses and went to doorknob carrier delivery by boys and girls from Griffith. Mr. Wilcox was well-known to us in The Shopper office because he submitted a popular weekly column for the paper about the Senior Citizens' activities. He was retired from the steel mill and had been a Griffith resident from 'way back, knowing the town and the people very well. Aubrey had lots of pep and always believed in getting the job done in the quickest possible way. We not only relied on him for keeping the carrier routes under control at all times, but he could be counted on to run errands, pick up ads, drive to Park Press in South Holland on Tuesdays to pick up loads of papers in his car, and other various things that needed to be taken care of. Aubrey was just what we needed at this time and his help made it at lot easier for us all. His dear wife, Mata was seldom seen but was busy relaying messages, making up the carrier payroll and writing up the carrier name sheets for the bundles of Shoppers.

Bundles of Shoppers in front of the office awaiting pickup by the carriers. May, 1980

Aubrey wrote up his own history of his work (he writes in a snappy prose style that is distinctively his own) and it is quoted here in its entirety which he entitled "Griffith Children at Work".

"In 1976 the Griffith Shopper management decided to serve all of Griffith town folks with door knob delivery. Considerable efforts were expended by Joe Smith's wife to get the info from the post office of all house numbers, apartments, etc. This served as a basis for route layout.

"Each route contained a minimum of 79 papers up to 290 papers (they loved those apartments!). Now to get the program underway, carrier route flyer ads were inserted into the Shopper seeking children from all base areas. (Yes, children wanted jobs). After posting the information, each child selected was contacted as to the start of delivery Tuesday. The rest were included as reserves, or to fill in for vacations and other circumstances until they became the route carrier themselves.

"By late summer the system developed headaches for the townsfolk and the Shopper management. Oft times carriers would report off late the day of delivery. Some were tossing the papers on the lawn and this caused considerable trouble via complaints from home owners. Finally an office worker would have to deliver a paper to the neglected address.

"Mrs. James, seeing a young retiree breezing in and out of the office, asked him if he could do her a favor! After hearing the particulars, The Griffith Shopper hired a route supervisor to oversee the total delivery program by checking each route for proper delivery and giving those errant carriers a few words of "encouragement" if they wanted to keep their routes. With a hire-and-fire man on the job, most carriers turned in a good job performance.

"During the nine years this delivery service was in effect, over 250 children were used on the 29 routes. Oft times a hand-down to a younger brother or sister was in effect and thus numerous routes were in one family for five or six years. One route had the same family (Lovin) for eight years--three different brothers and sisters carried The Shopper during that time and all were tops.

"This project had several purposes. (1) Allowing children to earn their own spending money. (2) Each carrier prided themselves on delivery according to their ability. (3) Allowing children to meet and make friends throughout their route area.

"Twas a sad day in the fall of 1985 when home delivery was again restored to the U.S. Post Office. All those children stayed with The Shopper until the final day. They were good troopers til the last out was made, even if there were some tears rolling down those rosy cheeks!"

SWINGING SENIORS
By Aubrey Wilcox

Mr. Wilcox wrote the popular Senior Citizens' column which was printed in The Shopper. His logo and by-line are shown above.

"Gavel Passes To New Leader"

Al Scherer, 1954 president of the Griffith Chamber of Commerce, passed the gavel to Jack Tubbs, second from left, at the installation of new officers, Saturday evening. About 100 persons turned out for the dinner at Vogels. Serving with Tubbs are: Joe Smith, (right) secretary-treasurer,, and Vic Marshall, (left) vice president. Arnold A. Coons, city editor of Gary Post-Tribune, gave the installation address and Paul McGough, public relations field representative, U. S. Steel, was the main speaker. Claude Patterson, Jr., was master of ceremonies. A program of songs by The Madrigals of Griffith High under the direction of Miss Bonney was enjoyed. Vic Marshall, William Allen, Joe Knerr, Sid Powell, Milford Christenson, Bill Kane, Al Scherer and Vern Swets were named to the board of directors.—Ryckman Photo.

The Griffith school logos shown below were designed by Joe to use with each school's weekly news column. This gave each school their own distinctive look in our paper.

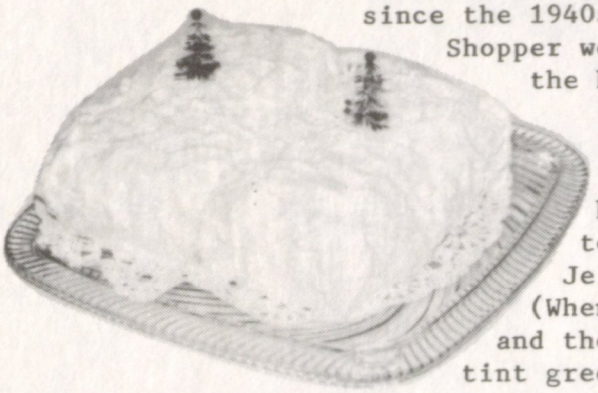
LEONA JAMES HONORED 1985.

On Friday June 14th, Leona James, publisher of the Griffith Shopper, was honored by the Griffith Public Schools Administrative Team when she became the 1985 recipient of the Administrative Team Award. Each year the Griffith Public Schools Administrative Team selects one or more persons either in or out of the school system who because of their sustained interest in and generous service to the Griffith Public Schools has helped promote excellence in the schools.

RASPBERRY ANGEL CAKE DESSERT



This Raspberry Angel Food Cake Dessert has been a family favorite since the 1940s and was served at Christmastime to our Griffith Shopper workers, becoming a favorite with them. A bit of the history of the cake is included here.

I think it all started back in the early 1940s when at Christmastime at home we would have a parfait for dessert as it was lite and not too filling. It was made with 2 pkgs. of raspberry Jello, 3 mashed bananas and ½ pint of whipping cream. (When the Jello was almost set, the bananas were added and then the whipped cream, saving out a small amount to tint green and dab on the top of each individual parfait for additional color.

In the late 1940s, the cake started for birthdays as it was not too sweet. I first used a small store-bought angel food cake and proceeded according to the illustrations on this page. The filling was the same as the parfait except frozen thawed red raspberries were used instead of the mashed bananas. Two pkgs. of drained raspberries were used and the entire ½ pint of whipping cream was whipped and folded into the almost-firm Jello. This filling was placed in the cavity of the cake and the top was put back into place, then covered tightly with Saran Wrap which helps to hold the cake firm. It must be refrigerated until almost ready to serve. (I usually make it the night before so it sets up firmly).

An hour or so before serving time, another ½ pint of whipping cream can be whipped and tinted with food coloring and used to frost the entire cake. (My preference is to use green coloring which gives it a little extra eye appeal).

1 Place a 10" Angel Food Cake upside down on plate or waxed paper. Slice entire top from cake about 1" down. Lift off top and lay to one side.

2 Cut down into the cake 1" from outer edge, and 1" from middle hole, leaving a substantial "wall" of cake about 1" thick, and a 1" base at the bottom.

3 Remove center with a curved knife or spoon, being careful to leave a "wall" of cake at bottom 1" thick. Place on serving plate.

4 Completely fill cavity with chilled filling.

5 Replace top of cake and press gently. Cover top and sides with the remaining chilled cream mixture.

The first time we used this cake at work was for Joe's birthday in December, 1952. It was a total surprise! After that we had it every year on (or near) December 11 for Joe. In a few years it developed into a Christmas party for all of us and became an annual event with the cake as a highlight.

Reflections

God is not like a sentimental and doting parent who spoils his children. The world is so made that His judgments press upon us at every point; the consequences of sin, whether of nations or of individuals, lead in the long run --and sometimes in the short run --to frustration, wretchedness, and destruction. But even behind this judgment...this righteous ordering of the laws of the universe...the ultimate purpose is not vengeance but mercy. The rod with which we are chastised for our sins is but the crook in the shepherd's hand by which the wandering flock is brought back to its true home. A.Richardson

Reflections

If we wish to overcome evil, we must overcome it by good. There are doubtless many ways of overcoming the evil in our own hearts, but the simplest, easiest, most universal, is to overcome it by active occupation in some good word or work. The best antidote against evil of all kinds, against the evil thoughts which haunt the soul, against the needless perplexities which distract the conscience, is to keep hold of the good we have. Impure thoughts will not stand against pure words, and prayers, and deeds. Little doubts will not avail against great certainties. We must fix our affections on things above and then we will be less and less troubled by the cares, the temptations, the troubles of things on earth.

Reflections

We should believe that all sacrifice and all suffering is of value to us. When we are in pain, We are being tested. Can we trust God, no matter how low we feel? Can we say Thy will be done, no matter how much we are defeated? If we can, our faith is real and practical. It works in bad times as well as in good times. The will of God is working in a way that is beyond our finite mind to understand, but we can still trust in it.

Reflections

"Ask and ye shall receive." We should never let ourselves think that we cannot do something useful or that we never will accomplish a useful task. The fact is that we can do practically anything in the field of human relationships, if we are willing to call on God's supply of strength. The supply may not be immediately available, because we may not be entirely ready to receive it. But it will surely come when we are properly prepared for it. As we grow spiritually, a feeling of being plentifully supplied by God's strength will possess us and we will be able to accomplish many useful things.

Reflections

A Christian isn't a man who never goes wrong, but a man who is enabled to repent and pick himself up and begin over again after each stumble--because the Christ-life is inside him, repairing him all the time, enabling him to repeat (in some degree) the kind of voluntary death which Christ Himself carried out.

That is why the Christian is in a different position from other people who are trying to be good...The Christian thinks any good he does comes from the Christ-life inside him. He does not think God will love us because we're good, but that God will make us good because he loves us; just as the roof of a greenhouse doesn't attract the sun because it is bright, but becomes bright because the sun shines on it. C.S.Lewis

"The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms." Sheltering arms express the loving protection of God's spirit. Man, in his troubles and difficulties, needs nothing so much as a refuge, a place to relax, a place where he can lay down his burdens and get relief from his cares. We should say to ourselves: God is my refuge. Say it until its truth sinks into our very soul. Say it until we know it and are sure of it. Nothing can seriously upset us to make us afraid, if God is truly our refuge.

For awhile we used short inspirational pieces called "Reflections" and received lots of favorable comments from our readers.

Reflections

Let us give and give again of all that we possess...Not from the purse but from the heart...bright smiles and kindliness...the helping hand, the loving thought, the friendly word of praise...encouraging some lonely soul thru dark and stormy days..The very poorest may be lavish with these lovely gifts...without a penny we may give the kindness that uplifts... God never stints...He gives to men His riches from above...then may we give abundantly, the good gift of our love.

A front page of February 9, 1950. The masthead was still the one that we used when the paper was done entirely by stencil, but by this time the offset method was being used. The ads were a combination of clip art, typing, handlettering and heavy bold print being done with letters cut from a book of larger letters suitable for headlines, etc.

A front page of The Shopper, July 13, 1950 when Strack's was changing from "Royal Blue" to "Certified". The typing was done on our office typewriter. Elmer Plohg who worked at Stracks took care of the advertising in later years. This masthead was not used very long; Joe designed the bull's eye masthead soon after this.

This is a hand-lettered ad done by Elmer Plohg who was the manager at Stracks and who did their ad layouts for several years.

Griffith Band Drive Progresses

GRIFFITH—At the band parents meeting Captains Mrs. Leon Weddell, Mrs. Robert Eberhard and Dale Clark reported that progress was being made with the current band fund drive. The drive for funds will continue through Oct. 31.

Announcement was made of the spring concert date to be April 16.

The band was to have participated in the marching contest at Valparaiso last week but was again rained out. The contest has been called indefinitely for this year.

Band Director Robert Sohn announced that new white plumes and white belt webbing have been added to the present band uniforms. These were made possible through moneys from the fund drive, along with purchase and repair of instruments; transportation for contests and concerts; upkeep of uniforms and the securing of new uniforms.

Griffith VFW Unit To Assist Hub Group

Mrs. Archie Metherd of Gary, 1st District president, inspected the Griffith Auxiliary of the Veteran of Foreign Wars at a recent meeting.

The auxiliary will join Crown Point to honor department president, Mrs. Patrick Weaver of Lafayette, on her visit here Nov. 17.

Two Brownie troops will be sponsored by the auxiliary with Mrs. Warren Peters and Mrs. William Kussmaul Jr. as leaders.

The women made a donation to the Garden Club fund drive for a combination skating rink and tennis court.

The group will hold a bake sale tomorrow at Midwest Grocery. Hostess at the meeting was Mrs. Alvin Grugel.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Torado McFarland Meyers, Spokane, Washington: I remember over fifty years ago in Okanogan County, Washington, when the North half of the Colville Indian Reservation was opened for homesteads.

My parents filed on 160 acres. As everything was raw and new, most people lived in log houses. There were no school houses, not even little red ones. I remember attending school in a one room log cabin. There was one door and the school board put in the only window. The cabin was owned by an Indian woman.

During rainy weather we would all stay in at recess and play a game. We would see who could find the most bullet holes in the log walls. Our desks were home-made as were the benches we sat on.

Several mice attended school rather regularly. Our young lady teacher, true to form, was afraid of them. Whenever one of the "beasts" appeared, teacher would dash outside until one of the boys chased the mouse away.

We all carried our lunches in either lard pails or tobacco cans, with handles. These were set on a shelf beside the door. Our teacher all but fainted one day when a girl found a large bull snake coiled around her lunch pail.

GRIFFITH LITTLE LEAGUE

Jack Hilbrich, Commissioner, announces that Herbert Book has been appointed as a manager and Occie Wools as a coach of the Griffith Little League Assn.

Due to recent weather conditions, not too much work has been done on the field but hopes are to have most of the basic conditioning of the field finished before really bad weather sets in.

GRIFFITH P.T.A.

A special invitation is being extended to all interested persons in the community and to High School students and their parents to attend the Tuesday, November 23rd, meeting of the Griffith High School P.T.A. to be held in the gym at 8 p.m.

"An Insight into Geology" will be presented by Dr. T.G. Perry, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Geology Department of Indiana University, Bloomington. There is a great need for geologists in a great variety of fields, and the demand for qualified people far exceeds the number now in the profession. Dr. Perry will talk on the nature and scope of geology, the training of geologists and the opportunities that geology offers as a career. His talk will be accompanied by slides.

Dr. Perry has done geologic work in the Rocky Mountains, Gaspe Penninsula and in the Hudson Bay area. For the last four years, he has done geological work in Indiana under the sponsorship of the Indiana Geological Survey.

Refreshments will be served.

Dr. Perry will present the same talk at 6:30 p.m. the same evening at Calumet Township High School, which will follow the dinner meeting of the Calumet Science Club at 5:30 p.m. An invitation is extended to anyone interested to hear Dr. Perry at their program.

GRIFFITH BAND PARENTS

The monthly meeting of the Griffith Band Parents' Ass'n. was held last Tuesday with Mr. Dale presiding.

Results of the recent drive were announced, with captains Murrel Riggs, Mrs. L. Weddell, Mrs. Philip Parker and Mr. Clark Dale reporting. The drive was most successful! Many thanks go out to all the Band Parents who so diligently put forth their efforts, and especially those in Highland who volunteered their time and efforts so loyally.

TOWN WIDE Dollar Days!

FRI. SAT. FEB 20 21

SHOPPING IS MORE THAN JUST BUYING MERCHANDISE

...even the progress of your community is influenced by your buying habits!

1 Enjoy the added convenience of shopping in your community: You save time traveling and there are no parking problems. You can dress informally and bring the entire family. And, by following the advertisements in your local paper, it's easy to locate exactly the merchandise you want.

2 Shopping in your community works wonders for your budget: Saves you money on gas and other transportation you may make to inquire about or to order merchandise. The local prices are as low as you'd find elsewhere . . . and you're only minutes away when a sale begins.

3 Local merchants offer personalized, neighborly service: They're friendly, courteous and will do everything possible to make you a satisfied customer. And, if you trade frequently, the merchant learns your tastes and needs . . . making shopping even more fun.

4 You can trust your local merchants: To keep your business in the community, they rely heavily on a reputation of dependability, honesty and fairness. It's just plain good business to satisfy you. They know that one satisfied customer helps bring them more business.

5 The money spent at home stays at home — to work for you and your community: so don't spend it some place else. With your dollars, the merchants pay part in taxes for civic improvements and expansion, donate to community projects, and increase their payroll giving more families an income.

6 Whatever your needs, your local merchants can satisfy them: They are skilled in buying and stocking what their neighbors want. You'll find a wide assortment of quality merchandise of every type. They carry the nationally-advertised, famous-name merchandise that you can trust

7 Many of your merchants are authorized dealers: They specialize in selling certain brands that are backed by national manufacturers. You can be sure their prices are right, their service good and that they know all the qualities of the manufacturer's particular product.

8 It's easier to establish credit locally and better to do so: Your good credit rating will buy you more in your local community than elsewhere. Your neighbor merchant extends you credit on a larger amount, because in your community you're a better prospect as a repeat customer.

PATRONIZE YOUR GRIFFITH COMMUNITY MERCHANTS!

GRIFFITH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Dollar Days were a great time--the cooperation was excellent and most all the merchants participated. The Shopper often donated a page to promote Dollar Days or other similar events. (During the early years we often donated 40, 50 or even up to 60 pages per year of free promotional advertising for the purpose of building Griffith).

Freedom Bells Will Ring

Junior Women's Clubs all over the United States are commemorating our American Heritage by "Making Freedom Really Ring" this Fourth of July. In conjunction with this General Federation of Woman's Clubs Project, the Griffith Junior Woman's Club is participating in and using this as their theme for their Fourth of July activities. Bells will be rung for four minutes starting at 1:00 p.m. to commemorate this Fourth of July. Churches, colleges, public buildings and any other place where a bell might be located are being contacted and asked to participate in the movement. Churches in Griffith have been contacted by the Junior Woman's Club and permision has been granted by the Town Board for Griffith to participate in this nationwide project. The radio will broadcast the bells for two minutes, followed by readings from the Declaration of Independence. So this Fourth of July let us all "Make Freedom Really Ring."

SCHERERVILLE SUMMER PARK PROGRAM

Mrs. Thos. V. Laskey, director of Scherervilles's annual summer recreation program, reports that the first week of its operation is most successful. Youngsters in grades kindergarten, 1, 2, and 3 are participating in the first session, July 8-18, and are busily enjoying a variety of quiet and competitive games and handcraft. Handcraft, Mrs. Laskey says, is their chief interest this year. Their many completed projects done with paper, paste, crayon, paints, and scissors, will be on display very soon in Jo Kouch's beauty parlor in downtown Schererville. The display will be added to with each week's progress, including the efforts of the older group of children who will meet in the second session, July 23-August 1st. Their handwork will be woodcraft, using the coping saw.

The 1963 program is held in Schererville town park, Monday thru Thursday, from 10 a.m. till 12 o'clock noon. Schererville youngsters in grades kindergarten through grade 6 are participating in the program. In case of rain, the program is cancelled as the activities are held out-of-doors. If it rains during the program, parents are asked to call for the youngsters or arrange to have them called for by a friend or neighbor.

Assisting Mrs. Laskey in the program this year are Esther Stephen and Susan Adley, both residents of Schererville.

The annual program is made possible with the financial support of the Schererville Civic Funds, Inc., and the Schererville Woman's Club as the sponsoring agent.

Social Security

A new edition of the "Social Security Handbook" is off the press, a 314-page easy-to-read digest of the social security law and regulations--all that anyone needs to know about the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance programs and how it operates.

The Handbook, which was first published in 1960, has proven useful to lawyers, accountants, personnel directors, service officers of veterans organizations, labor union officials, members of Congress, and others who assist or advise members of the public in social security matters.

Among the Handbook's 21 chapters are two about the disability provisions of the social security law, including the medical factors considered in deciding disability claims. Other chapters tell about the requirements for retirement, dependents, and survivors benefits, describing in detail the types of evidence the claimant may be asked to supply. The steps that a claimant may take to redress what he considers a wrongful action on the part of the agency are fully explained. The final chapter presents a summary of other Government benefit programs, giving their eligibility requirements and rates of payment.

Social security offices have copies of the Handbook for examination and reference, and copies are also being supplied to public libraries and law libraries. The "Social Security Handbook" may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., for $1.25.

Thought for the Day

He is a man of sense who does not grieve for what he has not, but rejoices in what he has.

Social Security

It may seem that 1964 has just started; yet, Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, will be rushing by soon, and 1965 will be here.

What will 1965 mean to you? A new car? A new home? A new baby? A high school or college diploma? or will it mean the year you retire?

If 1965 is your retirement year and you will be at least age 62 or over in 1965, then now is the time to contact your social security office. By doing this ahead of time, you can find out what proofs you'll need, about how much you can expect in the way of monthly benefits, and, if you are planning to work part-time, what arrangements you'll need to make with your employer. And perhaps most important, you can assure yourself of getting your first check in the month after you retire.

In addition, by contacting the social security office ahead of time, you may save yourself a great deal of time and money you might otherwise spend in attempting to secure proof of your age. Your social security office can often suggest a source of proof of your age which is easily available but you did not realize existed.

So don't wait until the last moment -- call or visit the social security office in advance of your retirement date so you can get your first retirement check on time.

KNOW YOUR VOLUNTEER FIREMAN

Elmer Plohg, Secretary-treasurer of the Griffith Volunteer Fire Dept. is the man who directs and coordinates equipment at fires. If additional help or equipment is needed, Elmer calls for it by radio from the emergency truck. All the finances of the department are handled through his office, and every fire is recorded also.

Another life-time resident of Griffith, Elmer is proud enough of his community to always be ready to lend a helping hand to make it a better place to live. When he knocks at your door with tickets for the Annual Fireman's Dance July 17th, a donation of $1.50 per ticket is all that it will take to help pay the annual installment on the fire truck. You'll have a good time at the dance and at the same time will be helping Elmer and the other firemen to help keep our community a safer place to live.

Enrollment Sets Record at I.U.

A new record for number of full-time students has been set at Indiana University's Northwest Campus, and the regular fall registration period is still to come, John C. Buhner, director, announced.

More than 900 full-time students enrolled during a newly initiated advance registration program Aug. 16-Sept. 2 at the Northwest Campus, compared to the previous high of 822 for the fall term last year.

In addition, more than 1,200 part-time students signed up for classes during this period, Buhner added.

Advance registration was introduced at the I. U. campus this year in anticipation of a record enrollment.

Regular registration, for clases starting Sept. 17, is planned on the following schedule: graduate students--Monday, Sept. 13, from 5-8 p.m.; full-time students--Tuesday, Sept. 14, 1-4 p.m.; and anv student not registering during one of the other times--Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 15-16, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. and 5-8 p.m.

Because of the large number of additional students expected to enroll during regular registration, plans have been made for students to sign up for classes according to an alphabetical schedule. To avoid confusion, students will be required to follow the times assigned, the director said.

All students will register at the Gary building only, and must have proof of admission to Indiana University before starting the enrollment process.

New courses in 11 different fields of study, and additional sections of courses proven popular in the past, will increase the number of fall courses offered at the Northwest Campus to a record of more than 300 cources, Buhner said.

The expanded program will include 33 junior-year courses, three at the senior level, and 14 graduate courses.

New credit courses are: principles of environmental health, elementary human anatomy, advanced accounting problems, graduate C.P.A. coaching, physical chemistry, experimental physical chemistry, masterpieces of French literature, elements of geology, geologic fundamentals in earth science, sophomore seminar in American government, judicial process and American constitutional law, United States history from 1789-1865, historiography, interdepartmental colloquim, techniques of linguistics, and fundamentals of nursing.

The Reel Squares Square Dance Club will dance at the Merrillville Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall on Taft Street across from Promenade Hall on Saturday, Sept. 11. Dancing will be from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Bob Ford will do the calling for the evening.

Dan Jordan GI Viet Casualty

Army Lt. Daniel W. Jordan's family read a reassuring letter from the soldier Wednesday morning, July 12th, in which he told them not to worry about his assignment in Vietnam.

He said he had just read reports of the July 4th traffic slaughter on U.S. highways and he said he was probably safer in Vietnam than most Americans were on highways.

Three hours after they read that letter an Army officer reported in person that Jordan had been killed in combat in South Vietnam with the 173rd Airborne Division.

He was the first Griffith native killed in Vietnam combat.

Jordan, 24, had been in Vietnam since May 21. Six weeks before that, on April 1, he had married his high school sweetheart, Vicky Perotti.

Both were 1962 graduates of Griffith High School where Jordan had earned top athletic and scholastic honors. He won letters in football, track, and wrestling.

He then attended Purdue University where he earned a degree in forestry.

Jordan was active in Army Reserve Officer Training Corps at Purdue and was battalion commander when he graduated. He went directly into the active Army and was married while on leave earlier this year.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Jordan, of 112 Raymond St., Griffith. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. George Pressler, of Springdale, Ark., and a brother, Joe Smith, of Lansing, Illinois.

Mekong Delta Thirst

For Release from Headquarters, 9th Infantry Division, Information Office, APO San Francisco 96370:

TAN TRU - Plain water is enough to quench an ordinary thirst, but add a little soft drink powder and you've got a drink that can take care of a powerful Mekong Delta thirst.

Believing that soldiers in the U.S. Army's 9th Infantry Division would enjoy a soft drink more than plain water and iced tea, an American Legion post in Griffith, Ind., mailed an entire case of beverage mix to them.

Mr. H.C. Smith, service officer of American Legion Post 66 in Griffith, sent the mix to Private First Class Kenneth Wilcox of the 2d Battalion, 60th Infantry here.

Wilcox, also from Griffith, is a clerk in the battalion's plans and operations section. He turned the gift over to battalion mess sergeants.

"I figured that the best way to get it to all the guys was through the mess halls," he explained.

This front page of July 20, 1967 tells of Danny Jordan becoming Griffith's first Viet Nam casualty. Danny was Joe Smith's younger brother--such a fine young man. Notice we placed the flag on the mast-head at half staff in his honor.

Honors Awarded to 1st Lieut. Dan Jordan

(U.S. Army Photograph)

The Distinguished Service Cross and Bronze Star medals were posthumously awarded First Lieutenant Daniel W. Jordan in an award ceremony held at Headquarters Fifth Army. LTG John H. Michaelis, Commanding General, Fifth U. S. Army, made the presentation to Mrs. Victoria Jordan, from Griffith. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Jordan, parents of the deceased, attended the ceremony.

The DSC is the second highest award for gallantry in action which can be conferred. Lieutenant Jordan was cited for extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations in Vietnam. He was an airborne infantry platoon leader on a combat mission near Dak To.

Lieutenant Jordan also was awarded the Bronze Star Medal posthumously for meritorious service in connection with military operations against a hostile force.

He was born in Gary, Ind., on December 31, 1942, and graduated from Griffith High School in 1962 and from Purdue University in June, 1966. He received an ROTC commission upon graduation from Purdue.

Entering active duty June 20, 1966, Lieutenant Jordan went to jump school and soon afterwards joined the 173rd Airborne Brigade in Vietnam.

He was killed in action July 10 while engaged in a fire fight against the Viet Cong.

Reflections

God is with us, to bless and help us. His spirit is all around us. We must not waver in our faith or in our prayers. All power is the Lord's. We must say it often and steadily to ourselves. Say it until our heart sings with joy for the safety and personal power that it means to us. We must say it until the very force of the utterance drives back and puts to naught all the evils against us. All power is the Lord's. Then we will pass on to victory over all our sins and temptations and begin to live a victorious life.

On Wednesday, March 5th, there will be a meeting of the Women's Little League Auxiliary at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall. You are the women who will be working in the concession stand and helping with any projects to support the boys in Griffith Little League.

Please try to attend these meetings.

The Coming of Spring

The welcome freshness of the new spring season approaches. Since the beginning of time, Spring has been nature's way of reminding man that life is a never-ending process. During the spring months of March, April, May and June, as the sun rises higher in the Northern Hemisphere, the trees leaf out, crops flourish, the scent of flowers fills the air and the new young of all nature's creatures look about them with wonder at the beauty of the land and the blueness of the sky. Depending upon where we live, our thoughts will turn to the pursuits of spring gardening, Easter bonnets, vacations, weekend treks to the coasts, mountains and lakes. One and all, we will enjoy the general state of somnolence known as spring fever that always makes its appearance after a dreary winter.

The springtime of life is now, and we should make the most of it. We should accept nature's invitation to enjoy the good things of creation, to lay aside bitterness, tension and prejudice. Spring is the time to start anew, and only the foolish will deny it.

Twenty-four members of Griffith Grandmothers Club and two guests Mesdames Amber Greenwood of Hobart and Irven Jonas of Highland, met at the Christian Church on Thursday afternoon for a meeting which was conducted by President Leona Sewich.

As our club is also interested in such projects, she had asked the members to bring their coupons which they don't use to the next meeting. A cash donation was made by the club to buy some articles that are needed by the school.

Happy birthday was sung to Marie Spitz, Odessa Fleck and Margaret Putman. Mrs. Spitz was the only one present.

Amber Greenwood, granddaughter of grandmother Phoebe Hughes, entertained the club by playing the piano and singing a song entitled "Simply Trust in Every Day." It was enjoyed by everyone.

Our one guest, Mrs. Jonas, decided to join the club today and was gladly welcomed by everyone.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The humanitarian concern for the welfare of children is a noble sentiment. I doubt if any good American would throw a away money if they realized how U.N.I.C.E.F. funds have repeatedly been used to aid the International Communist Conspiracy.

U.N.I.C.E.F. proceeds are not contributed to youth in need, but rather, are taken up by the Communists in the (Communist controlled) countries. U.N.I.C.E.F supports the Communist policy of submit or starve.

Soviet agents have been on the U.N.I.C.E.F payroll. Atheist Communist artists Pablo Picasso, Hans Erni, Ben Shahn (to name a few) are chosen by U.N.I.C.E.F. to design its "Christmas Cards". Many Communist bookshops sell U.N.I.C.E.F. greeting cards.

Now let me make one thing perfectly clear, the Communist idea of peace is submission by the Free World to the chains of International Communism.

Thank you,
Mrs. Phillip Wamecke

BABE RUTH AUXILIARY Turkey Shoot

The Women's Auxiliary of the Griffith Babe Ruth League will hold a Turkey Shoot on Saturday, November 10, at Wise Way.

In addition to the shoot, there will be a Pepsi and hot dog stand and the ladies will be selling home baked goodies from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The proceeds from this project will be used to help pay for equipment and to improve the field.

For further information contact any Babe Ruth player or call 838-8184 or 923-3701.

LONGFELLOW LITTLE LEAGUE Fund Raising

The Longfellow Little League Auxiliary is having a drawing as a way of replacing some of the loss ruffered by the burning of the concession stand by arsonists.

The drawing is for Four MINI-VACATIONS at Wellman's Holiday Inn. The Mini-Vacations consist of dinner, an overnight, breadfast in bed, a champagne brunch, and $20 cash to cover theatre tickets.

The drawing will be held Nov. 15 at a meeting to be announced later. Tickets are available through many Longfellow League officers, managers, and parents at $1 each.

The Star of Bethlehem

At Christmas time, may our hearts open wide to the meaning of the day, and the birth of our Saviour that was the greatest gift that ever blessed mankind . . .
So, while we bestow and welcome gifts of all kinds during this happy season, let us remember best
His gifts to us . . . the spirit of Faith and Hope,
Peace and Good Will, and Glory unto God . . .

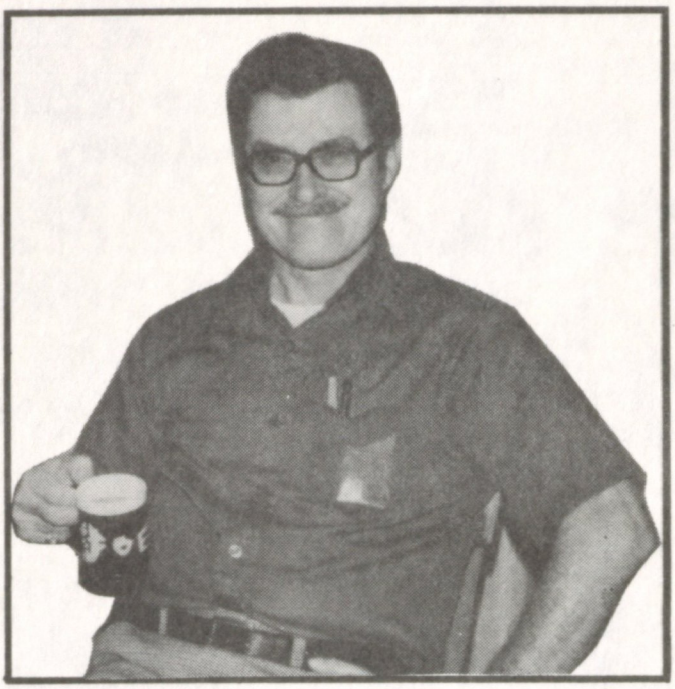
Brumm's Bloomin' Barn ran a front page ad about twice a year and smaller ads at other times. This particular front page shows our flag on the mast-head at half staff for Joe who had passed away just a few days before this issue was printed.

OUR BELOVED JOE



December 11, 1925

July 31, 1985

HOW WE WILL MISS HIM!

SAFELY HOME

I am home in heaven, dear ones;
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed;
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shade?
Oh! but Jesus' love illumined
Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread;
And with Jesus' arm to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely,
For I love you dearly still;
Try to look beyond earth's shadows,
Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not idly stand;
Do it now, while life remaineth--
You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When the work is all completed,
He will gently call you Home;
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!
